Corinthian tackles complex tasks

by Renee Crawshaw

Corinthian underwent an almost complete overhaul and emerged as triumphant as a Spartan returning from battle. "My main goal was for the newspaper to cover as many student activities and organizations as possible," said Editor-in-Chief Renee Crawshaw. The staff was made up of 20 talented writers, three of which were returning members. Advisor Gertrude Hogue chose 10 aspiring writers from a first year Journalism class that was terminated after the realization that it and newspaper could not function properly during one class period. Crawshaw felt combining the classes enabled editors to choose from more stories, thus producing a better quality newspaper.

Every other Wednesday, section editors traveled to the infamous Ceres Media Center where they spent many hours pasting up and "making" the newspaper. Not only did the hard work pay off on Friday when they saw their work in print, but it also earned them ROP credits. ROP hours were also translated into dollars and cents and deducted from the final cost of producing the newspaper. Modern technology came to the Corinthian by way of word processors. Introduced by the Media Center, the processors cut down on production time and costs.

Other than ROP hours, the Corinthian relied solely on sales of ads for support. Much of the work was done by ad manager Michelle Carroll who put in many after school hours contacting businesses and designing ads. An Entertainment section was added that kept students up to date on records, movies, and concerts, this and Viewpoints was under the editorship of Scott Williams. Feature Editor Melissa Peters was responsible for keeping students informed of campus activities and individual student interests. Her section also included intuitive opinion polls and creative photo essays. Although this was his first year in newspaper, sports editor Joe Lamkin was quite capable of the job. As well as having the most section pages, he became an efficient sports writer. News was handled by Crawshaw whose job it was to keep students informed. The paper was also blessed with hard-working photographer Matt Bowers who could always be counted on to get the job — and the photos — done. The staff agreed they did their best to try to make Corinthian the best ever.

Yearbook: The Best and Getting Better

by Michelle Dilkian

"The deadline is tomorrow!"

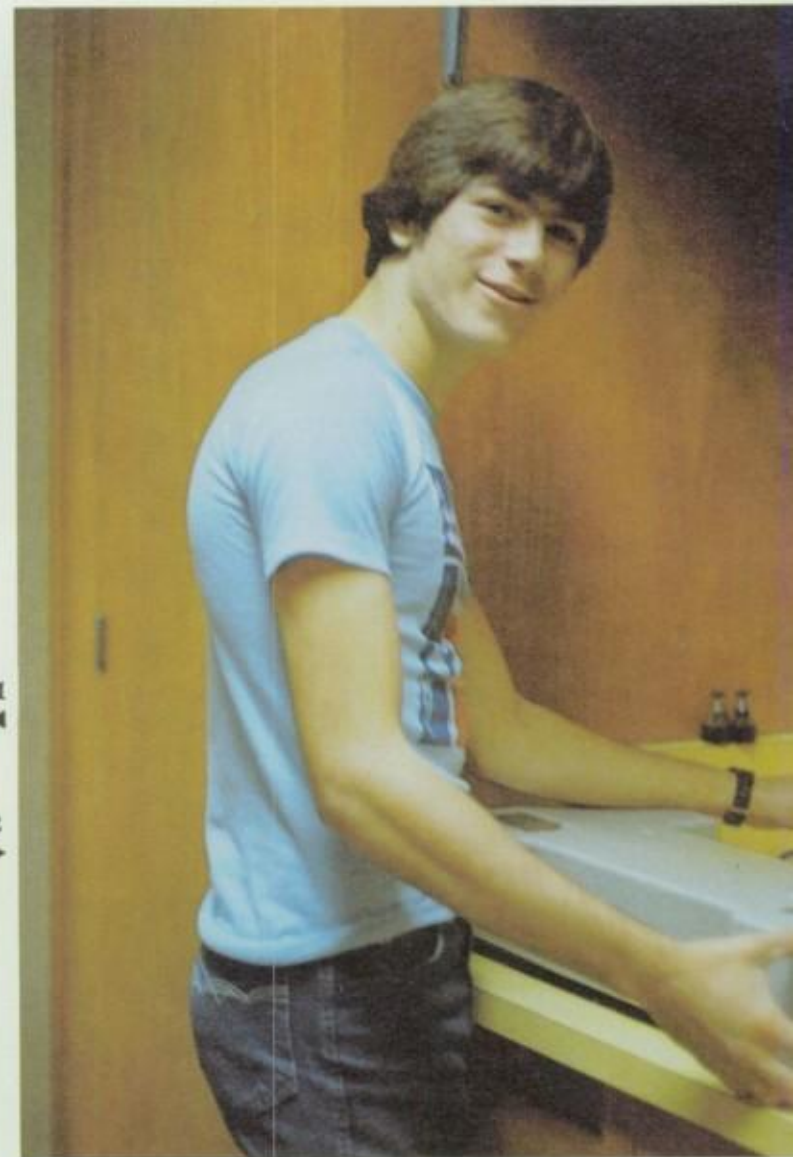

"Your pictures did not come out. We had to retake them!"

"My copy is not done!"

These were typical problems of the average yearbook staff member. After the many initial problems, Editors-in-chief Kim Bystrom and Monica Murrietta expected a great year. With the help of eight returning staff members and Advisor Gertrude Hoge, the new staff members quickly learned the process of making a quality yearbook. Yearbook duties were numerous. There were many days staff members came in at lunch and stayed after school to finish layouts to meet an upcoming deadline. The theme, "The Best and Getting Better," was chosen by editors as a reflection of the environment at Davis. New staff member Debbie Maxwell remarked about yearbook class, "Working in yearbook was a lot of fun, and I got to meet many nice people." There was a certain closeness between yearbook staff members. Cooperation was a must. Photographers were able to work with layout people, and everyone tried to work with editors. Sometimes conflicts came about because a photographer had to take pictures for three subjects and took awhile to develop and print them. The layout person had to patiently wait for the pictures as days toward the deadline dwindled down. After the deadline was met and tension subsided, things once again moved smoothly. Because of this closeness and cooperation, yearbook class was a triumphant success.

2. Photographer-in-Chief Jim Wall processes a picture on the Spiratone print maker.

Speech team's success continues

by Andrea Dixon

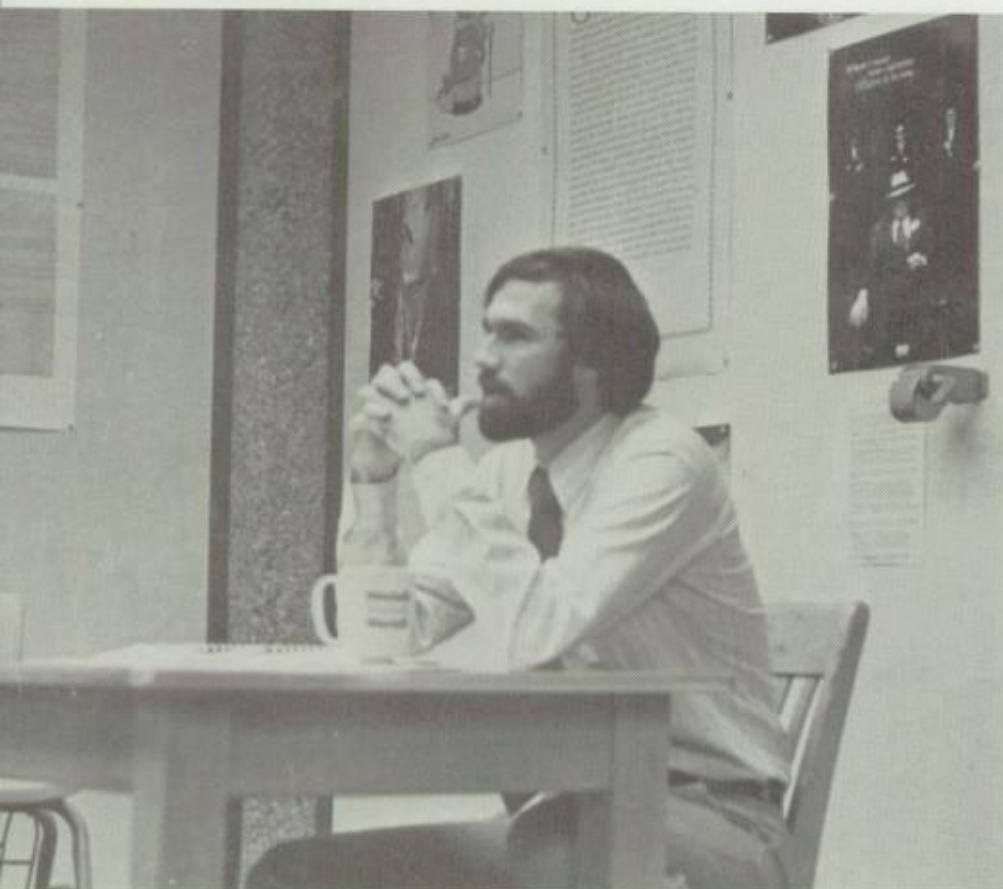

The dedication and enthusiasm speech students display is seen through the many awards the speech team has earned. Although the speech team consisted of mainly juniors and sophomores, the team kept its reputation as one of the strongest speech teams in the National Forensic League. Paula Kim, president, commented, "Taking our recognition within first, second and third place at the speech tournaments, we have proven how articulate, intelligent, experienced and dedicated our team members are. All of us have benefitted from this experience. We have not only learned how to speak well in front of an audience, but we have also learned many research skills that will benefit us in the years to come."

League tournaments were held on Saturdays, once every third week. Besides participating in tournaments, speech team members also spoke to various service clubs.

Speech team had many fund raisers, including the volleyball marathon, a yard sale, and car wash.

Student Government proves endless ability

by Debbie Maxwell

Striving to keep Davis a top-notch school was only one of many goals for student leaders. Some activities Student Council organized were the staff members' welcome back breakfast, and a staff appreciation week. Both of these proved beneficial to Council members and staff who appreciated them. Fund raisers were also successful in bringing the members closer together. When asked how he felt about people he worked with, Don Barbe, student body president, stated, "The people, faculty and administration of Grace M. Davis High School are of a unique breed."

Being a member of Student Council is a lot of work. Much extra time must be spent working on projects after school and on weekends. They usually met at least once every two weeks, during lunch or after school to discuss fund raisers and school business.

Some fund raisers Student Council organized were a car wash, lunch-time carnival, and selling of the ever-popular See's suckers. Money raised went toward an end of the year trip for all members.

Student Council would not have been complete without the endless help of Activities Director Bill McRivette who helped Student Council with activities. Junior Class Representative Andrea Dixon stated, "Mr. McRivette played an important role as our advisor. He not only helped Student Government plan activities and fund raisers, but he also helped us accomplish our goals for the year."

Involved CSF'ers look to bright future

by Michelle Ocken

With approximately 150 students enrolled in California Scholarship Federation, this proved to be a productive year. When asked what he thought of students enrolled in CSF, advisor Robert Stuart stated, "They're obviously the most talented because they're involved with so many different activities at Davis High."

Leading the club was life-member and President Patti Guptill. At her side were Paula Kim as vice president and Tracy Manzoni as secretary/treasurer.

With close to $200 under their belts, they took a trip to San Francisco, and did services for the community. They held successful fund raisers during the year including selling cocoa at games and Valentine-O-Grams.

Thanks to the start of a new Junior High CSF, which began last year, freshmen were able to join CSF in their first semester rather than having to wait for their first semester grades.

Patti Guptill commented, "This was one of the most active years that CSF has had in the four years that I've been here.

We organized community service projects, fund raisers, and trips."

Twelve members composed a steering committee which helped officers decide exactly what members wanted to do. They were Marie Catarino, Connie Christodoulas, Cathy Lane, Jeanine Lane, Grace Lau, Regan Miller, Nelli Nazmi, Kim Norquist, Dana Simi, Elaine Tzagarakis, Wendy Vyborney, and Jim Wall.

With dreams of the future, members ended the year with a feeling of pride and confidence which they will carry with them for the rest of their lives.

Dance dedication turns into success

by Anne Manrique

Dedication and determination to be the best were two of the most important qualities which the 22 girls in Dance Production shared.

Soon after the school year began, members attended practices at 7 a.m. to prepare for the annual Christmas concert which was performed at a school assembly and at an evening performance. The group used the money raised from calen-der selling to pay for the $30 participation fee which all had to pay. With left-over money, the group scheduled field trips and had master classes with teachers such as Sharon Marks of San Francisco, Jeane Greene of the Lewitzky Company and Kurt Weinheimer.

Early in October each girl began to choreograph a dance with which she could audition for the formal spring concert held in May. Once the dances passed screening, girls spent many hours before school, after school, and in the evening practicing and perfecting their dances. After the May performance, all members felt the rewards of a successful spring concert and many more friendships. As Kris Forbis remarked, "Mrs. Bryhni is one of the main reasons I liked Dance Production. She always worked so hard and was willing to help us whenever we needed it. We all have shared in a great experience and have made many strong friendships throughout the year. It was a positive experience for everyone!"

Professions working for tomorrow

by Kim Bystrom

First-rate could be used to describe VICA this past year. Sponsored by the California VICA Association, the 30 members of the group were able to plan various services for the Industrial Education Department and Davis High School. Fund raisers, such as selling mistletoe, were held to help defray the cost to send members to the VICA Skill Olympics, a competition of industrial skills. VICA members had previously won the honor of being the best in respective skill areas.

The club, led by President Andy Fiskum, Vice-president Bill Hunt, Secretary Mike Nielson, Treasurer Steve Blickenstaff, Reporter Ken Medlin, Parliamentarian Dave Hurtado, and advised by Mr. Dave Blickenstaff, met about once a month or more often if necessary to plan club activities. From these activities, VICA members learned to improve their vocational skills, leadership skills, and to be of service to others and themselves.

Rick and Debbie Herrmann, advisors of both Modesto DECA chapters, got their chapters going on its finest year ever. DECA, a professional organization for high school students, held competitions in apparel and accessories, finance and credit, advertising services, petroleum, and restaurant management. Competitions were held at a local level here in Modesto, state level in San Jose, and national level in New Orleans. To aid with the cost involved in attending conferences, DECA members sold candy bars, Jelly Bellies, Valentine flowers, and conducted their annual gift wrap booth during the Christmas season.

Future Farmers of America still growing

by Joe Mann

Future Farmers of America, one of the largest clubs on campus, has a wide variety of activities to keep its members busy. FFA activities included raising of swine, cows, sheep, and poultry for showing and later selling them for marketing. A few members learned horticulture and later showed and sold their products.

FFA had a merit system in which members earned points by attending meetings, working on the farm on workdays, and also by being on one of the many committees or judging teams. At the end of the year, members with the top points plan a trip.

As for competitions, in October Mark Runyon, Kathy Whaley, Tracy Champ and Lisa Richard competed in the opening ceremony competition in Turlock. These competitors learned the roles of president, vice president, representative and secretary. Varsity team took first place and the novice team took second. Members of these two prominent teams were extremely proud of their achievements.

Officers were President Mike Scheuber, Vice President Valerie Gregory, Secretary Jeff Amador, Treasurer Cathy Ballantyne, Reporter Bryan Aguirre and Sentinel Jeff Wilson.

Honor and service a goal of many groups

by Shauna Thurman

Better than ever seems to be the best way to describe S Club. With almost 40 members attending, S Club was able to get a lot accomplished this year. Some fund raisers and activities included were a bake sale, selling of balloons at football games, donating a Thanksgiving basket, throwing a Halloween party for children of Therapeutic Homes, and hosting an installation in May for all Modesto schools. With money earned, S Club was able to send members to a 3-day Asilomar on the beach. S Club President Liz Matheny remarked, "This year we were more active and got more accomplished."

Also involved in community and school service was Key Club whose theme was Strengthen From Within. Becoming a member of Key Club required much work and dedication, but along with the work came fun. With food drives, Big Brothers for girls' water polo team, and the Asilomar, Key Club felt they have done a lot. Being larger in number, the club decided to extend their horizons and let girls enter the club. Key Club member John Pease commented at the beginning of the year, "We received much enthusiasm and participation from the student body and we are looking forward to a great year!"

Teams strive for perfection on field

by Susan Mendieta

Working together as a whole and reaching the ultimate point of perfection were goals of flag and sign team. Only 13 girls were selected to fill positions after trying out in May 1982. These 13 soon found out that marching was not as easy as it looked from the sidelines.

Blisters, headaches, heat and cold weather were only a small part of the long road still ahead in order to become an outstanding color guard. Practice for sign and flag team started back in July.

Then came the annual band retreat, at which everyone practiced marching, flagwork, marching, flagwork, and still more marching and flagwork. Kim Cathcart enthusiastically remarked, "I really enjoyed flag season. I'm glad I tried out. We really had a great time."

Color guard had Robin Hoskins and Nancy Williamson helping them as instructors who aided the team in learning drills and routines. Even with all that help and practice, it did not seem like there would be enough time to get everything done. Gauchos were altered, boots finally arrived and new gloves were given to the girls to prepare for their performance in October.

First competition was the Modesto competition in October. Other competitions they attended during the season were held in Santa Cruz, Union City, and the Music Bowl in San Jose. "As captain," stated Anna Martin, "I feel the team put in a great deal of hard work. They tried their hardest to learn everything in what little time we had. I must say they're a great group of girls."

Pep Band and Rally can't be beat

by Jennifer Klopatek

Pep Band, led by student director Ed Estrada, continued to perform at rallies, football, and basketball games. They were a unique organization because they remained an entirely student-run group. Pep Band had a practice session before each function they played, which was usually once a week. Although Pep Band is a no-credit course, members donated their time after school at rallies and at games. Yet the exceptional music played by Pep Band seemed to send an epidemic of spirit among the teams, cheerleaders, and crowds.

Another activity which provided spirit was Friday afternoon rallies. Kim Bystrom, a fall mascot, said, "I wish we could have had more, because it got the team and school more motivated, but the rallies we had were really spirit-filled." Probably the two most important goals of people involved in rally were to get athletes pepped up and encouraged for the game they would be playing, and to get the crowd enthusiastic and ready to support teams at the game. At each rally, team captains were invited to say a few words to get students to attend the upcoming game. Although there weren't as many rallies as in past years, it was generally agreed among students that rallies were very exciting and unsurpassed.

Band learns responsibility while having fun

by Suzie McGuigan

Ninety band members came together in mid August at Caswell Park to begin a new marching season.

Band performed at three home football games and four competitions. In charge of directing were drum major Josh Frye on field and Ed Estrada on street. To continue to learn routines, members practiced intensely two nights a week from 5:30 to 7:30 said Jerry Richichi, band director.

Band was somewhat at a disadvantage claimed Richichi, when it came to competitions. Unlike other schools, Davis does not march year round perfecting routines. When football season is over, so is marching season. Musicians then start Concert Band.

To be able to participate in away competitions, band members must raise money. Fund raisers included the selling of candy bars, Texas fruit cakes, cheese and sausage, and pumpkins.

Band was composed of a band council, a director, and the hard working members. Behind the scene is a parent group of Band Boosters who help with fund raisers and serve as chaperones when needed.

Band, like football, is much hard work and long practices. Band teaches responsibility, the ability to follow directions, and how to work as a team, said Richichi.

Orchestra enjoys another fine season

by Monica Murrietta

The ability and talent needed to be a part of Davis Orchestra, otherwise known as the Modesto Symphony Orchestra, are aspects of a member's character which he carries with him throughout his life. Nancy Watling, the talented director feels orchestra is an outlet for the members' never-ending talent, as well as a fine arts requirement. The things learned by students will be used throughout their lives, Watling emphasized. With about 30 performers, orchestra met during and after school. Activities which they planned included the Christmas Program and the CMEA contest. And since money doesn't grow on trees, they sold concert tickets and holiday fruit cakes to raise money for transportation and replacement of equipment. They also had an end of the year party in honor of graduating members. However, before this party, the Davis Orchestra took part in a CMEA contest and about nine musicians participated in California Orchestra Directors Association. The 1982-83 Orchestra officers were President John Gottschalk, Vice-president Helmut Hopfer, Secretary-Treasurer Gary DeJong and Library Manager Cathy Lane. Led by these officers, Orchestra's year was one filled with self-improvement and each member's satisfaction with his accomplishments.

Acting is a way of life for dramatists

by Shauna Thurman

Nervousness, hours of hard practice, and the satisfaction of turning in a good performance were all part of Drama during the year.

The year began with a spectacular performance of the comedy play, Tear along the Dotted Line, by Jules Tasca. Their fund raiser was sponsoring Belle of Amherst performed by Dorothy Mulvihill, a professional performer and drama director at Manteca High School. Other activities included entering the Northern California Fall Festival held in Clovis West, and participating in an Art Festival in April. Mrs. Bobby Roberts, play director and club advisor, commented, "It's been a remarkably progressive year." Some of the students entered a talent show which will be on TV in the spring. The annual Bobby awards in May acknowledged students accomplishments. "More students should get to know drama and give it a chance. It's a great way to express your energy," commented Hillary Spector, vice-president of drama. Todd Wilson, president, put it, "It's the best way to be yourself."

Large membership aids AFS activities

by Sarah Hackett

American Field Service was busy as usual this year. Every year AFS sends American students abroad to other countries, or vice versa, during their junior and senior years. Students go to experience life in another culture.

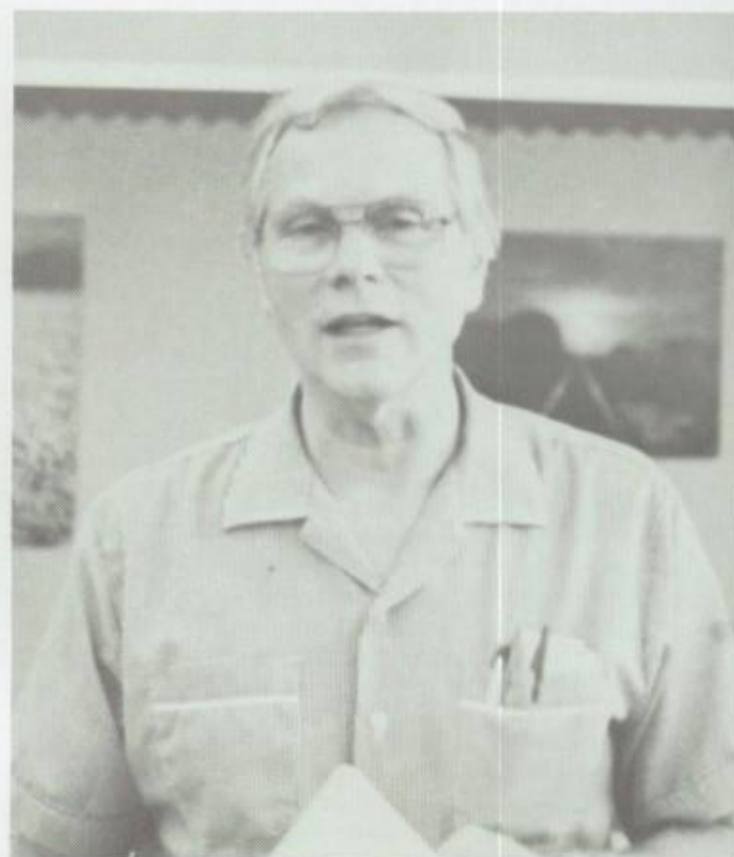

"We have a strong membership; now we just need to keep them interested,"

Barry Wissman said. Membership, consisting of over 45 people, was the highest it has been in years.

Because of the large enrollment, the Homecoming Dance hosted by AFS, was an immense success. Over $500 was raised at this dance, some of which will go to the Mother Chapter of American Field Service.

President Barry Wissman, Vice-president Jeanie Vogelzang, advisors Marion Zoodsma and Jann Jenkinson, kept busy with bi-monthly meetings and other activities which included the Ice Cream Factory Social, Christmas Party, and BBQ-swim party. If any extra money is raised, Barry would like AFS to take an end of the year trip to the beach or to Marriots.

studios, and museums. On these excursions club members met new people, looked at and listened to new ideas in the art world, and did a little comparing of their work to that of others.

Determination earns third straight title

by Rick Taylor

1982 was a year of ups and downs for the varsity football team. Despite a third straight league championship, the Spartans failed to advance to section play-offs because of a tough, season-ending loss to Downey. The two schools finished with identical 4-1 league records, but the Knights received the play-offs bid because of their victory over Davis.

Although the Spartans' success was hindered by losses to Pittsburg, Modesto, and the close loss to Downey, they overcame these obstacles to share the CCC crown. At the beginning of the season, the Spartans would continuously fall behind early in the game only to mount furious come backs in the third and fourth quarters. In the losses to Pittsburg and Modesto, Davis waited too long to wake themselves up and subsequently fell prey to teams that later in the season they would have defeated. "As the year progressed, the young Spartans matured into one of the best teams in the league," according to assistant coach Mike Taylor.

Following the loss to Modesto the Spartans reeled off five consecutive victories, thus, leading up to the showdown with traditional rival Downey.

In the game between Davis and Downey, the Spartans fell behind early. They went into the locker room knowing they would have to regroup and overcome a 14-0 deficit. The ever-so-proud Spartans came out slow in the second half once again, but following a Frank Runyon field goal, John Sereno picked up a Downey fumble and raced 35 yards untouched to cut Downey's lead to 14-10. The Spartans then took the lead on their next possession as Greg Crowley pounded in from the three. The game stayed that way until the Spartans regained the ball at their own one yard line. After a couple of plays and a face-masking penalty, the Spartans had a first down at the 25 yard line. On the next play Crowley took a pitch from quarterback Chris Hayes and raced 75 yards for an apparent game-clinching touchdown. It was all naught though, because the Spartans were guilty of holding on the play. Downey then recovered a Spartan fumble, and scored the go ahead touchdown on the next play.

Offensively the Spartans were led by Greg Crowley, who reset the 10 game rushing record with 1356 yards. The powerful halfback astonished opposing defenses by averaging over 6.2 yards per carry. Crowley gained over 100 yards in eight out of the 10 games, and in the other two he had over 90. His best game occurred against Turlock when he gained 227 yards, averaging nearly 10 yards per carry. Crowley credits the Spartan offensive line and fullback John Sereno for much of his success. Running back coach Nick Chipponeri said, "Greg is probably the best North-South runner I have ever seen at this level. He may be the best back in the history of this

The offensive line played an important role in the impressive season. Linemen who contributed the most were Larry Baker, John Lacey, Joey Josephson, Jerry Saunders, Andy Bearden, Jon Burgi, Doug Moore, and tight end Rod Hampton. The offensive unit as a whole must also be commended. They averaged over 16 points a game and brought home the third straight CCC title. Key players contributing on this potent team were running backs Sereno, Crowley, Bill Ringer, and Mike Schneider, quarterback Hayes, and receivers Hampton, Craig Chalk, Rick Ebster, Rick Bello, and sophomore Doug Tackett.

The Spartan defense, which was second in the league, played a decisive role in wins over Atwater, Beyer, Merced, and Turlock. Key players on this team were down linemen John Sereno, Greg Gillen, John O'Brien, and Wayne Shannon, linebackers Hayes, and Burgi, and defensive backs Mike Haeflinger, Ebster, and Tackett. This team only gave up a total of 97 points with three shutouts, 22 of those points came in their season ending loss to Downey.

Overall the season was a success even though the ending was disappointing. Head coach Don Lanphear said, "I wouldn't trade this team for any. They're really an enjoyable group of kids."

Sophomores stay high in CCC

by Dimitry Philipovitch

After having gone undefeated a year ago, the sophomore team ran into its problems. They ended the season with a 7-3 record which was good enough for a second place finish. A tough loss to Atwater, whom they'd beaten last year to win the league, was the important game of the year.

The Spartans lost their season opener to Lincoln. After winning their next four games against Pittsburg, Central, Modesto, and Oakdale, they lost the game against Atwater. The team led 14-0 going into the fourth quarter. Coach Larry Johnson remarked, "The Atwater game set the tone for the season. Our team gave up the big plays. We just couldn't put it together." Atwater came back with 20 unanswered points to beat the Spartans. Winning the next three games was an easy task for the mighty Spartans. Team leaders were Joey Castro, Darrin Abby, Dan Starck, Tom Houser, and Jose Pinto.

Statistics include a .700 winning percentage. Fourth year coach Larry Johnson raised his overall record to 33-6-1. He said, "Our team had a great deal of talent, but they just couldn't put it together."

6-2 Freshmen earn second in CCC

by Dimitry Philipovitch

Freshman football achieved a fine 6-2 record for a strong second place in league. This was Dwayne Westphal's first year as freshman head coach, after 10-year coach, Jerry Houser was moved to a spot on the varsity coaching team. Coach Westphal said he enjoyed his first year team led by the outstanding performances of Mickey Prescott, Mike Nar- anjo, Mike Lawson, Curtis Colvin, Kevin Kelly and Mark Henson. The Freshmen ranked highly in CCC both in offense and defense. Frosh won their first game, lost a tough game against Modesto, then came back to win their next three games. The frosh were Merced's victim one week later. The loss erased any hope left for winning the conference. Yet, the Spartans still kept at it. They came back to win their last two games and end the season with a .750 winning percentage. Coach Westphal remarked, "This year's team improved and developed with each game and did a fine job throughout the season, it was a team effort. Bruce Emerson and Jerry Shuman did an excellent job in coaching our players and I feel there is still a lot of potential for this group of athletes."

Tennis reigns on top again

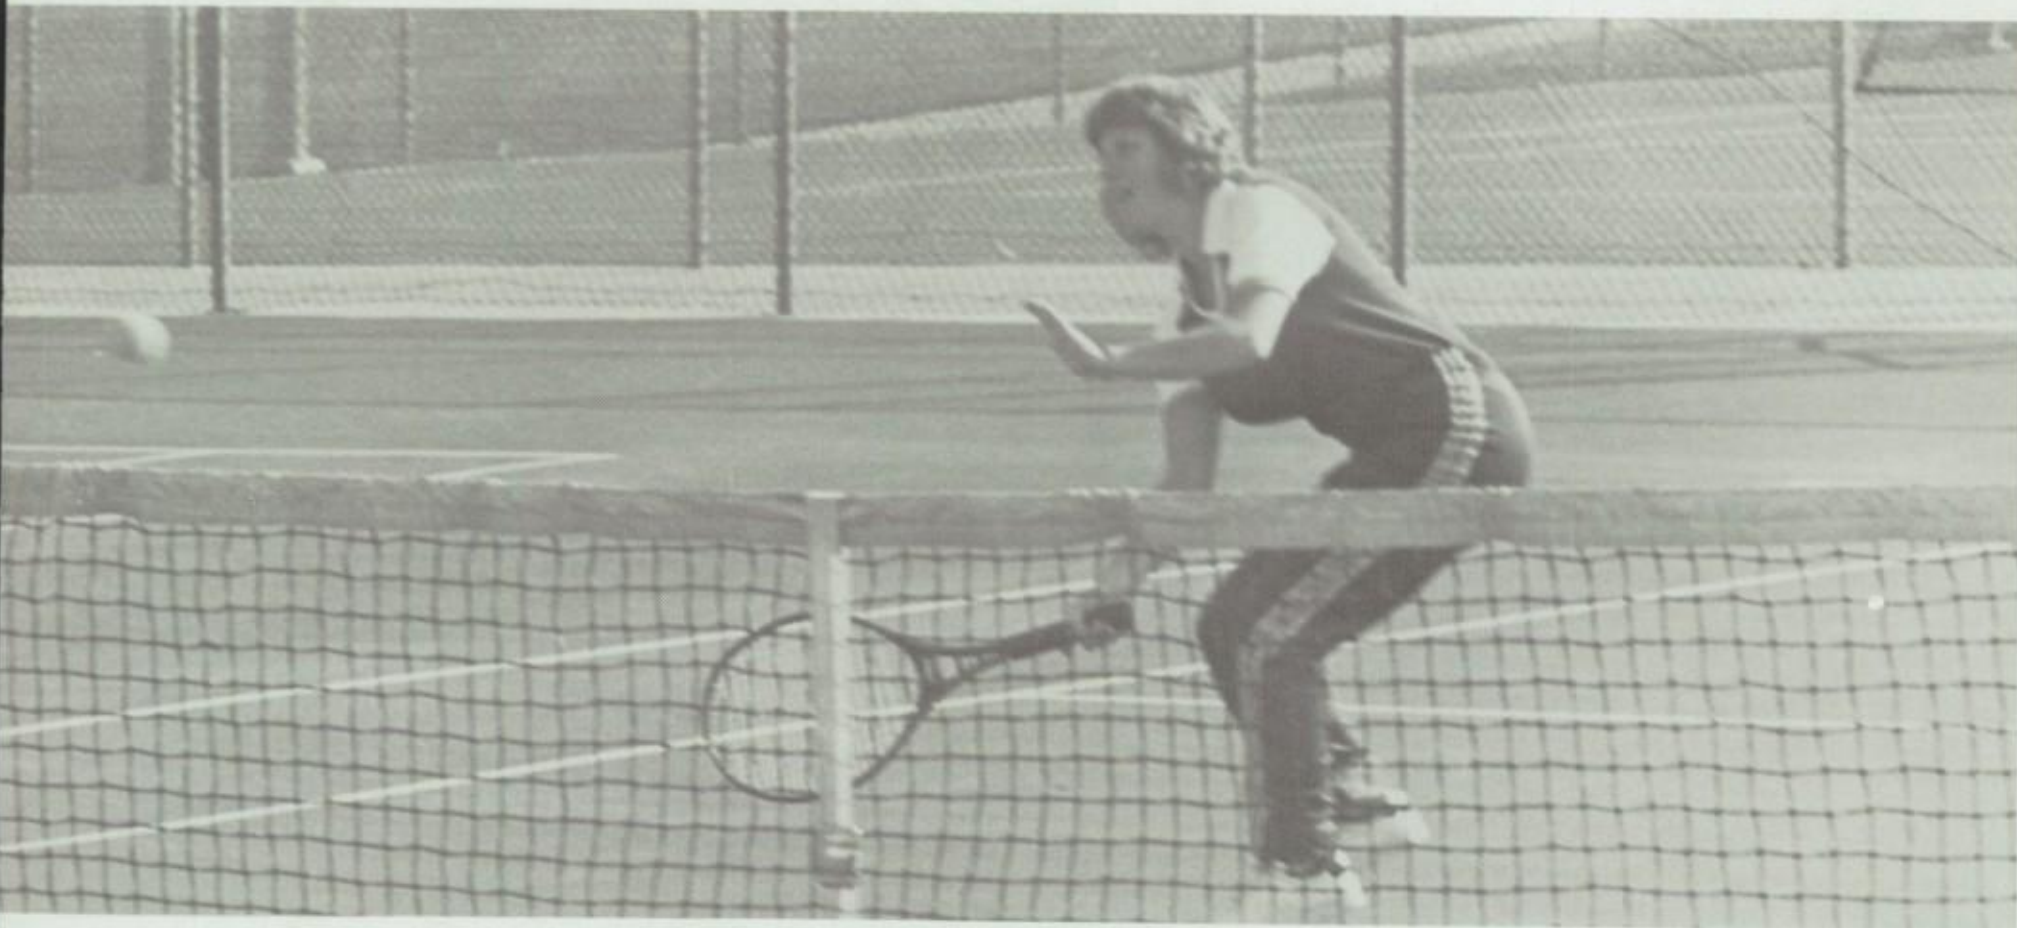

by Andrea Dixon

Girls tennis took their sixth CCC crown with an impressive 4-1 victory over Beyer. Davis closed the door on Beyer's bid to dethrone the reigning champions. The victory gave Davis a near perfect record with only one loss.

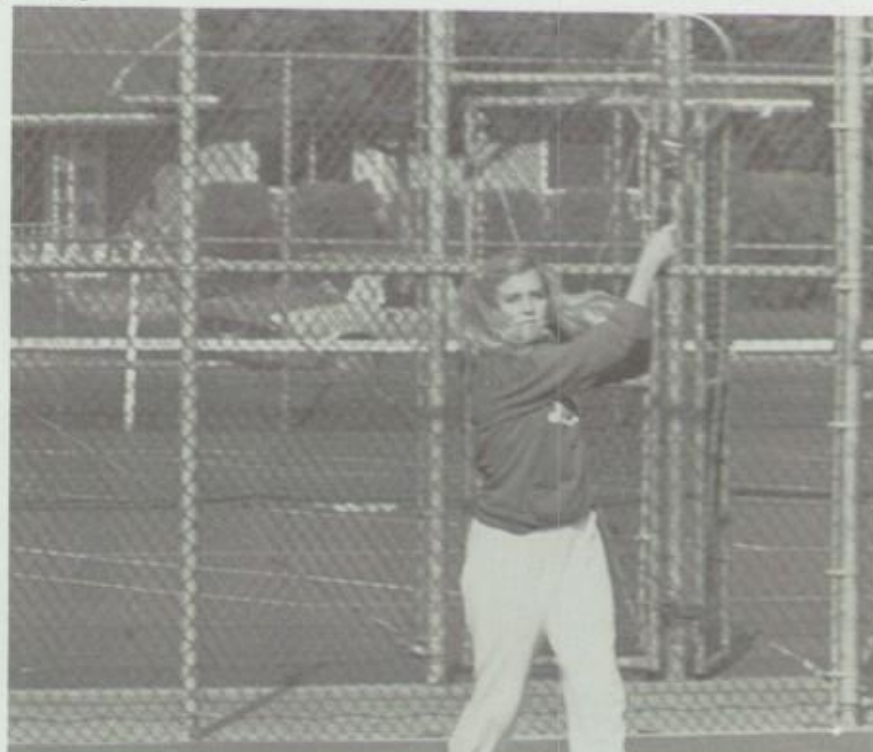

There were several excellent performers on the team. The standout singles player was Cynthia Barbe who is ranked 21st in Northern California. The top doubles team consisted of Karen Edling and Kathy Wright. New team members were Kris Hinton, Stacey Jacobs, and Teri Bracken.

Talent was not the only reason the team was so successful. Credit also went to Darryl Torre, 1982-83 season coach. Together the team and he proved they were a winning combination as they outshone their competitors.

Cross Country runs for pride

by Rick Taylor

Although the 1982-83 Cross Country team, as a whole, had a vast number of runners, the Spartans had a successful season.

The Varsity boys' team was led by outstanding runners Craig Sawyer and Jim Hawkins. These two runners both placed high at the section meet. Sawyer placed seventh, and Hawkins placed 66th in the Junior Race. The varsity team ended the season with an impressive third place CCC finish. Leading the sophomore boys team were Troy Gray, Martin Paularena, Sean Bowen, Sean Byrne, and Robert Reynolds. This outstanding team looks to be strong in the future as they finished second in league. Mainstays of the freshmen boys team were Victor Vieyra, and Brent King. Freshmen finished with an incredible first place in the

CCC.

The varsity girls team finished the season in third place. Standouts on this team were Alix Tubman and Betsy Crawford, the only runners to qualify for the section meet. Tubman finished 13th, and Crawford 28th at sections.

First year coach Rich Gunther commented, "They cooperated very well and will be a strong team in the future. Overall they did pretty well."

Volleyball is a big hit

by Brenda Lugo

If a team can't be the top, then at least they can beat the top. The Spartan's exceptional teamwork and enthusiasm pushed them to a victory over the previously unbeaten-Merced's 1st place team. This show of a quality Varsity Volleyball team was unsurprising considering the fact that Bernie Finley was the coach and Patti Guptill and Minerva Rodriguez were the Varsity Volleyball co-captains.

What was really special were the four freshmen who beat out sophomores and juniors for places on the team. Those players were Dionn Martin, Pam Eaton, Paula Eaton, and Licia Pope. This had never happened before and these four girls really did their jobs. Also making this team special was the participation of a foreign exchange student from Germany, Claudia Schumann.

The varsity team was proud to be the city champs and take a fourth place in the CCC. Certain outstanding players themselves received awards for their efforts. Patti Guptill was named Most Valuable Player, Margaret Castle and Minerva Rodriguez were given Honorable Mentions, and Robin Lee received Most Improved.

Co-captain and Most Valuable Player, Patti Guptill, remarked, "Volleyball is one of the funner sports because it doesn't have the stiff competition like other sports do — it's not so serious."

The JV team started out slowly but stayed high-spirited and enjoyed an experience-filled season. Their tremendous effort earned a second place in the city championships and fifth in CCC. The key players were setter Becky Shrum and spikers Amy Salter and Marilyn Dew. JV coach Margaret Hodge said, "There are a lot of fine athletes in the year of 86, and I'd say that the next four years are going to see some super athletes in all aspects of Davis High sports."

Water Polo keeps up tradition

by Dimitry Philipovitch

Coach Brent Bohlender's 1982 varsity water polo team did a great job rebuilding after a 1981 losing season. The team ended the season with a 5-5 league and 16-10-1 overall record. They finished in third place behind Turlock and Merced. The team was led by all-league goalie, Rob Larson, all-league team member Scott George, and Eric Fisher who was an honorable mention among the top poloists.

As mostly juniors, they should be very strong and in contention next year. The team had a 8-2-1 pre-season record. They started having their problems when league games started, losing games against Merced, Turlock, and Atwater. At sub-sections Davis won their first game against Lodi. Then they lost to Merced and Atwater in seeding games. The Spartans did better in sections; after an initial loss to Yolo, they won their last two games of the year against Bella Vista and El Camino easily to place fifth in the sections tournament. At one point, the Spartans had a six game winning streak, while at another time they suffered a three-game losing streak. One of the team's high points was winning the Fairfield Tournament. Eric Fisher, James McCormick, and Rob Larson were elected in the first team all-tournament. As the season boiled to an end, the team was happy and proud of what they accomplished, according to Dave Thompson. They said they'd like to do as good, or even better next year.

Frosh-Soph disappointed; Girls triumphant

by Dimitry Philipovitch

Frosh-Soph Water Polo had a very disappointing season. The team ended the year winless and unfortunately ended up in the basement of the league. Team leaders were Mike Woodward, John Boatman, Greg Amador and John DeNino. The team had a problem with the number of players going out and everybody going out was promised a spot on the team. The team had some close games which they could have won, but mistakes and lack of experience went against them, according to Dave Johnston. As Woodward said, "After having participated in swimming this spring, and having practiced all through the summer, we should be a contending team next year." The team will look back next year and try to strengthen their weak spots. It could take a great amount of practice, but it could be done.

Girls H₂O Polo had a much better season than the frosh-soph team. They finished the year with 4 wins, which secured a tie for 2nd place in the league. The girls were led by Liz Matheny, Michelle Carroll, Maralyn Feuerstein and Jennifer Day. According to coach Bohlender, these girls practiced very hard every day and deserved all the games they won. The team should do just as well next year, although they lost a few key members. The girls will practice as usual and try to do what they do best, which is to play great water polo.

Varsity earns respect although not winners

by Rick Taylor
and Dimitry Philipovitch

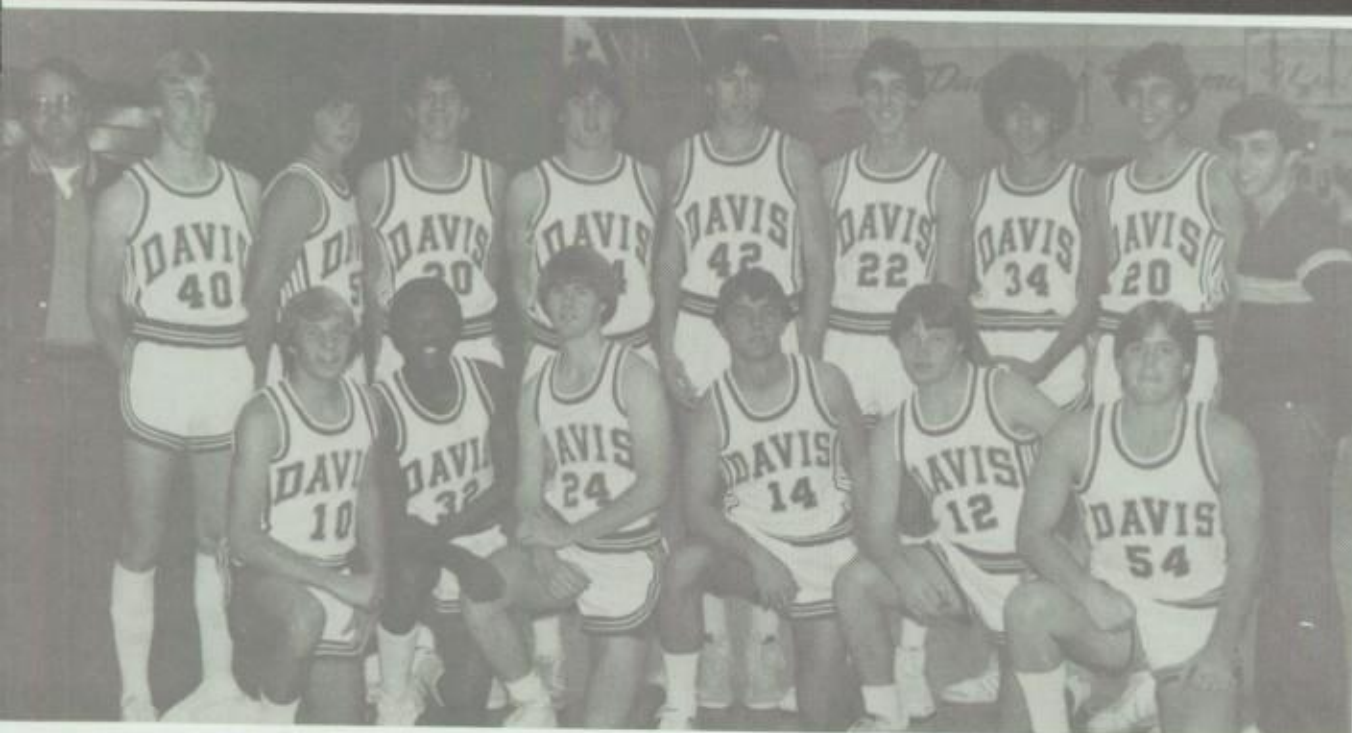

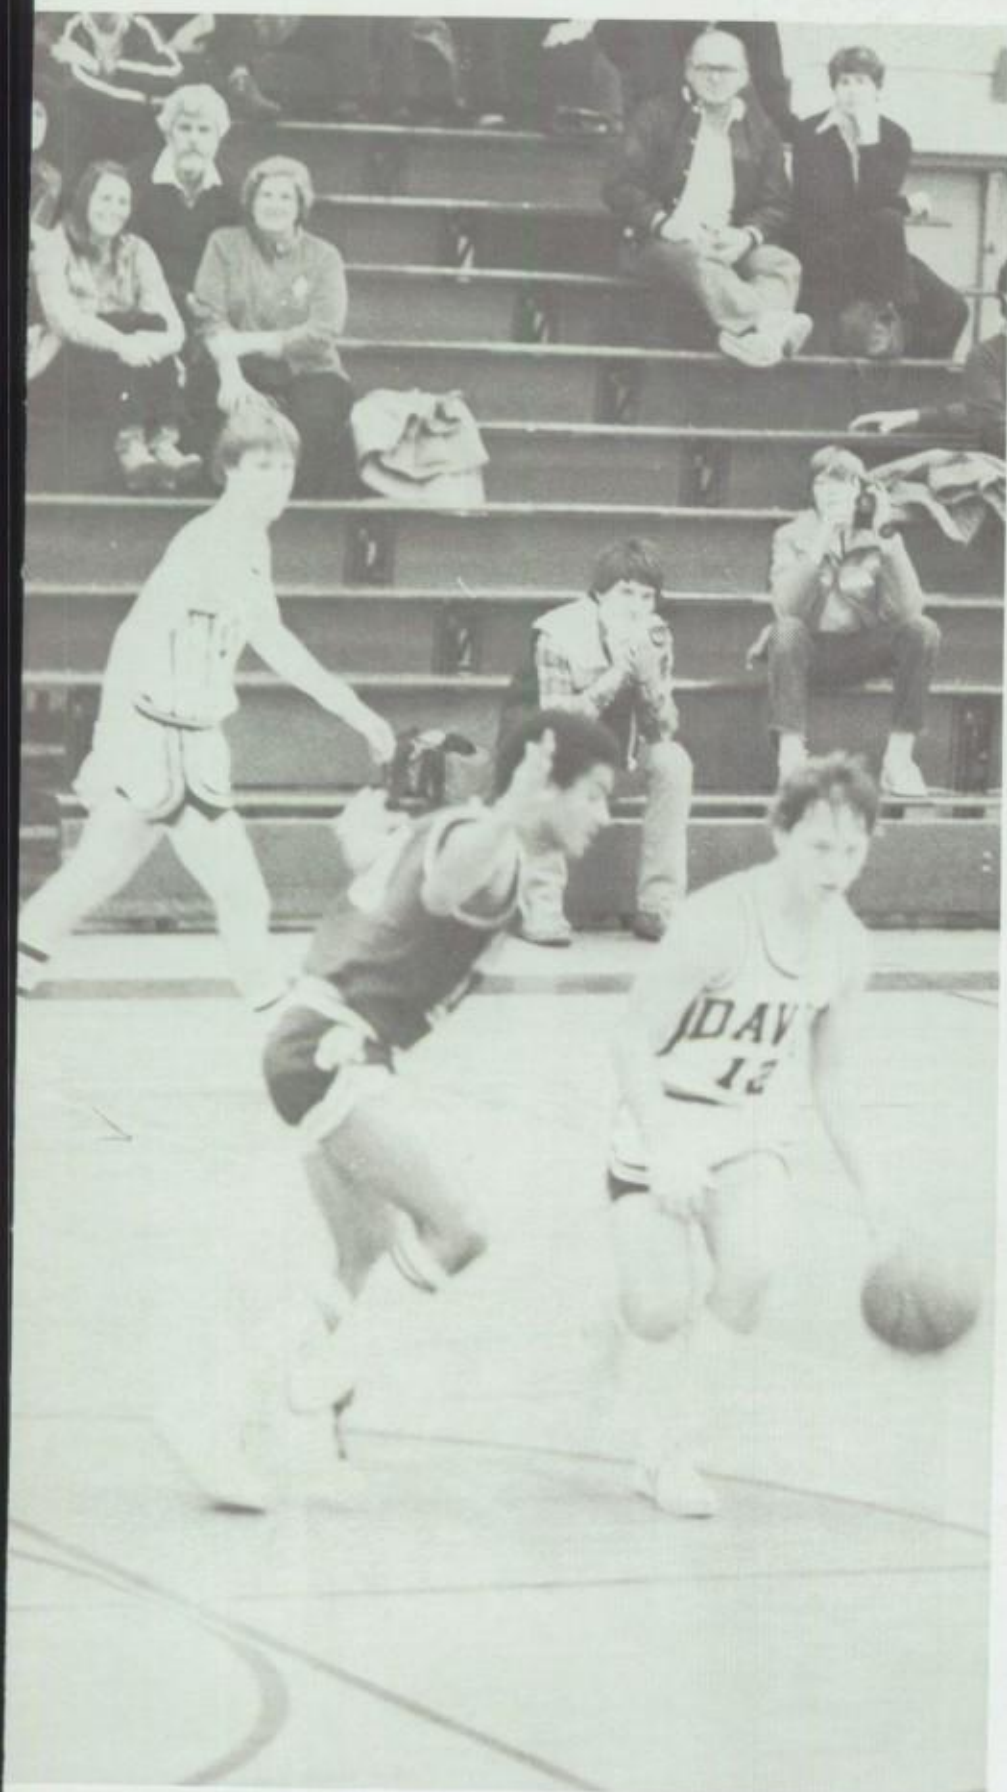

The 1982-83 season turned out to be a disappointing one for the Varsity Basketball team. A 3-21 league record was only good enough for a last place finish in the tough CCC league. Unlike last year, the league leaders took control early in the season. The young and inexperienced Davis team didn't have much chance to win the league championship.

After having a disappointing pre-season, the game didn't pick up during league. The Spartans lost nine of their games by six points or less. Although in last place for a good part of the season, the Spartans earned respect from all the teams in the league. Showing they had the ability, they knocked out play-off bound Downey, who were in 2nd place. The Spartans traveled to Downey to take on the Knights, the game was close throughout the game. A last second shot by Jeff Zehner gave the Spartans a two-point victory. The Spartans rallied late in games. According to the Modesto Bee, "The Spartans never gave up in a game until the buzzer went off." The Spartans rallied late in games only to come out short. A key member of those late rallies was senior John Sereno. He averaged 13 points throughout the season. Other outstanding players were Rich Howell, Jeff Zehner, and Jerry Jackson, while Jeff Luna, Jeff Stone, and Jim Hawkins came off the bench to score for the Spartans.

The team's biggest problem was turnovers. They experienced unfortunate turnovers more than any team in the league and they really hurt the team. According to junior, Jeff Stone, "We could've become a good team if we had learned not to turn over the ball." Each game played added experience. Our team's game improved, however, but so did the other teams' games." The Spartans beat two of the top teams, Downey and Atwater, resulting in a surprise upset. The two wins proved that they could have done well and won more often if they defensively retained the control of the ball. Although losing a few key players, the team will be ready and experienced to be able to take on others next year. Their performance should improve now that they know what to expect and what to look for in a league of high competition.

Spartans have an up and down season

by Rick Taylor

Having such an excellent start, the Sophomore Basketball squad turned things around. Coming off a first place finish the previous year, the sophomore team found their opponents much tougher to beat. Their record was 10-16 giving them a next to the last place finish.

The Spartans were led by Doug Tackett most of the season, until an ankle injury placed him on the bench. Other outstanding players on this promising team were Tom Houser, Dan Starck, Darren Abbey and Scott Jackson.

Overall the Sophomore Basketball team had a season which was both successful and disappointing. The Spartans were blessed with much talent and should be a team to watch over the next couple of years.

2. Dan Starck finds it tough to drive the lane against Atwater.

Frosh strive to perfection

by Rick Taylor

For the third straight year the Freshman Basketball team has dominated the courts. The young hoopsters, scoring over 60 points per game, blew out nearly all of their opponents en route to their 16-1 record.

Led by Scott Guptill, who averaged 21 points per game, the Spartans created many of their own opportunities through a ferocious trapping defense. Coach Nick Chipponeri would unleash this defense early in the game and often his team would break it open allowing Chipponeri to substitute freely. The Spartans were also led by Craig Orona and Mike Lawson who controlled the offensive and defensive boards as well as contributing heavily to the freshman point production.

Their lone loss came only after they reeled off 14 straight victories. They then had to play Merced without the services of Guptill who was ill. The Bears pulled out a tough five-point victory and the Spartans' undefeated season went down the drain.

Overall the Freshman team was virtually unbeatable. With this abundance of young talent, the Spartan basketball program should prosper over the next few years.

Another successful year for girl hoopers

by Brenda Lugo

Coach of the Girls Varsity Basketball team, Dwayne Westphal, summed it all up when he said, "The Girls progressed a great deal this year, as individuals and as a team. The girls never gave up and played extremely hard all year. They are true competitors and outstanding individuals. It has been a pleasure to work with them." Key players on the team were center Patti Guphill, guards Patti James, Debbie Burris, and Michelle Holton, forwards Colleen Faughn and Leslie Kimbrell, center-forward Anne Rentzi- peris, and forward-guard Chris Smith. Lisa Ayers filled in throughout the season and proved beneficial to the team. The Varsity girls proudly took second place in the Downey Invitational Tournament, third place in league and 10-13 overall. Patti Guphill, the team's 6'0" senior, received the Most Valuable Player award. (How many does that make now?) This season served as a learning experience for the new players, and for the team's seniors it was a "last year of Davis — go for it!" Coach Westphal expects for the future eight returning players, five of whom were starters this season. He says they should be in contention with Merced, Atwater and Turlock for next year.

With drive, determination and a lot of spirited, energetic girls, the Junior Varsity Basketball team pushed to fifth place in the city tournament. The leading scorers from the floor were Christie Earle and Pam Eaton. Leading scorers from the line were Monica Hilton and Earle. Leading rebounders were Marilyn Dew and Hilton. Coach Bernie Finley stated, "It was a learning year for the players and the coach."

Mental approach is the key to a league title

by Dimitry Philipovitch

"They have the talent and know-how to play the game," stated Varsity Soccer Coach Dick Erler. With only four games remaining in the season, the Spartans followed Merced and Beyer by only one point. In third place, the Spartans were pressured to win all remaining games if they wanted to win their first CCC title. Two of the four remaining matches were with Merced. A Davis loss could mean having to wait one more year for a crack at the title. "They are going to control their own destiny. I wish they would play consistent ball. They've beaten some great teams, but have played poorly against others. How they approach the game mentally decides the outcome of the game. If they feel confident about themselves, they can beat anybody. If they're worried, they don't play well," stated Erler.

During league games, the team had its ups and downs. A high point of the season came against their first match-up with Beyer. Beyer had gone undefeated in 38 games prior to the match. Davis was seeking revenge from last year when they tied the Patriots twice. Their wishes came true as they blew the "Beyer Bunnies" off the field with a score of 4-1. They later lost two consecutive games against Merced and Atwater. They went unbeaten throughout their next six games. A loss to Beyer pressured the Spartans in their remaining games. The team played excellent soccer, and it is now up to them to pull out a thoroughly triumphant and satisfying season. Ken Mayne, Chris Deatrick, Brian Elting, and Frank Runyon were candidates to make the All League team. Other team leaders included Kent Galli, Jack Kim, Brian Aguirre, and Charlie Shearer. These players showed how well they could play, during the Visalia Tournament, which took place over Christmas vacation. The Spartans handily defeated their first two opponents. A very close game with Mt. Whitney in the semi-finals resulted in a 0-1 loss for Davis. They took on Merced in the consolation match and a 4-1 win assured them a third place trophy in the tournament.

Coach Erler replied, "This is a very young and talented team. They know how to play soccer and they play it well. They've got the talent. All they have to do is put it together and play consistently. There were only four starting seniors on this year's team. I'm sure that we will have a great team next year." He said to look for Todd Priest and Todd Tuggle as standouts in their next season.

"They're a good team, and I've enjoyed working with them," said Erler.

Girls continue domination while JV gains experience

by Dimitry Philipovitch

The 1982-83 Girls Soccer Team has netted a third straight CCC Championship. At the time of this writing, the girls had raised their unbeaten streak to 33 consecutive games. The girls did not have much trouble with any of their opponents. Their toughest opponent was Beyer, which they beat throughout the season. Davis became a powerhouse in this area. They beat almost every team they have played, including pre-season and tournament games. As Coach Dick Erler stated, "They've gained more experience with each game. The competition gets tougher, but so do we." The girls have earned the respect they got by playing tremendous soccer. Nearly half the team members were prospective candidates to make the All League team-

Seniors Cynthia Deatrick, Kirsten Johnson, Tracy Manzoni and Kim Norquist are included. Other candidates included Tobi Palombi, Tiffany Lee, Linda Paradis, Jan Roberts, Julie Caldwell, and Kim Alonzo. These girls have proved themselves to be excellent players in their specialized areas. Some are also prominent all-around players. The Spartans' strong point was the team as a whole, working together. Defense consisted of Palombi, Paradis and Alonzo, the goalie. Outstanding midfielders included Deatrick and Manzoni. Johnson and Lee could be counted on for frequent goals imperative to their successful season. All-around players included Roberts, Caldwell and Palombi. The Spartans were well distributed when it came to age groups. The number of sophomores and freshmen were nearly equal.

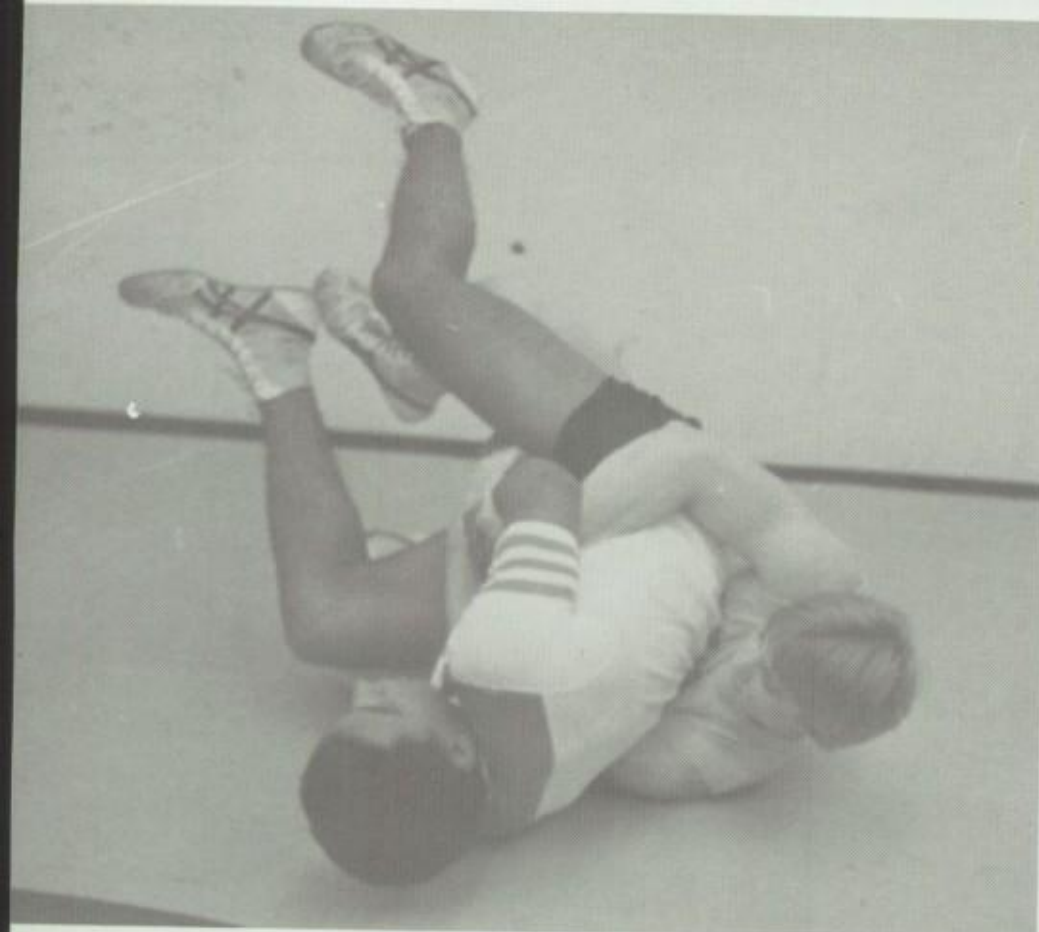

As Erler stated, "The team should continue its domination in the league for the next few years. They're all good players and I'm looking forward to watching them play next year."

The 1982-83 Frosh-soph Soccer team gained as much valued experience as a team could acquire in a year's period. As Erler remarked, "They're doing well and look good for varsity." Team leaders included Brian Drobnick, Grant Bedford, Charlie Lopez and Ken Epperson.

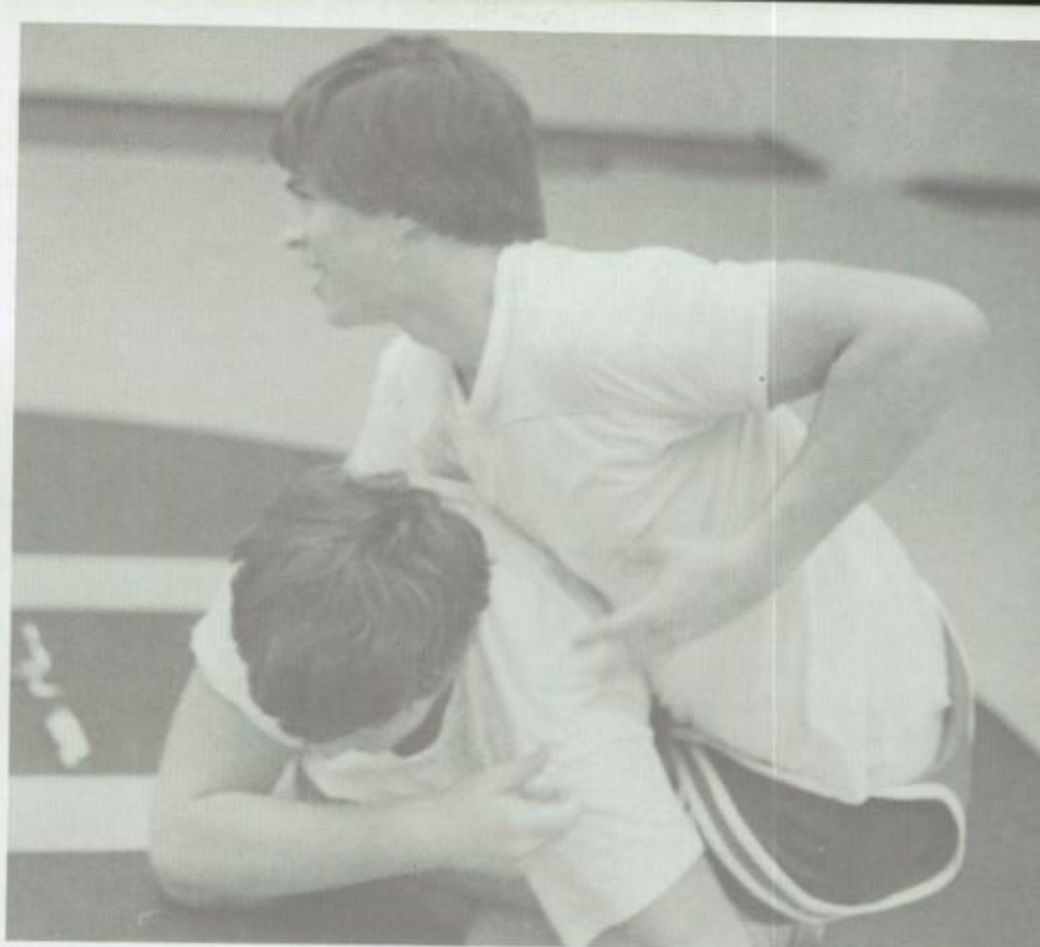

"These players have improved their skills and I'm looking forward to seeing them in the varsity team next year," stated Erler. Drobnick, a sophomore, was the backbone of the team, according to Coach Erler. "He has become an excellent player and is ready to play for the varsity team," added Erler.

Wrestlers strive for perfection

by Rick Taylor

The Davis Varsity wrestling team was blessed with many fine wrestlers this year. Wrestlers such as John O'Brien, Frank Fontana, and Greg Crowley are just a few of these grapplers. This group, along with many other fine athletes, made the wrestling team exciting to watch.

This team was composed of several young wrestlers who seemed to have the necessary potential. Two of the wrestlers: 181 lb. John O'Brien and 121 lb. Frank Fontana, had already proven themselves in previous years. O'Brien is a four year letterman who placed sixth at the state meet last year in the 154 lb. weight division. So far in 1983 he is undefeated with an incredible 21-0 record and ten pins. Fontana, on the other hand, placed sixth last year at state, and this year has a fine 11-1 record. His only loss came from a default in a match against Oakdale.

Other wrestlers who have shown great potential, which is needed to succeed, are 157 lb. Steve Blickenstaff, 169 lb. Greg Crowley, 107 lb. Tony Major, heavy-weight Pepe Becerra, and Scott Proctor.

Coach Don Lanphear commented that this year's team is good, and should place high in the C.C.C.

Wrestling: coming out on top

by Suzie McGuigan

Wrestlers prove themselves not by running 20 yards and scoring a touchdown, but by going a strenuous six minutes, one on one and coming out on top.

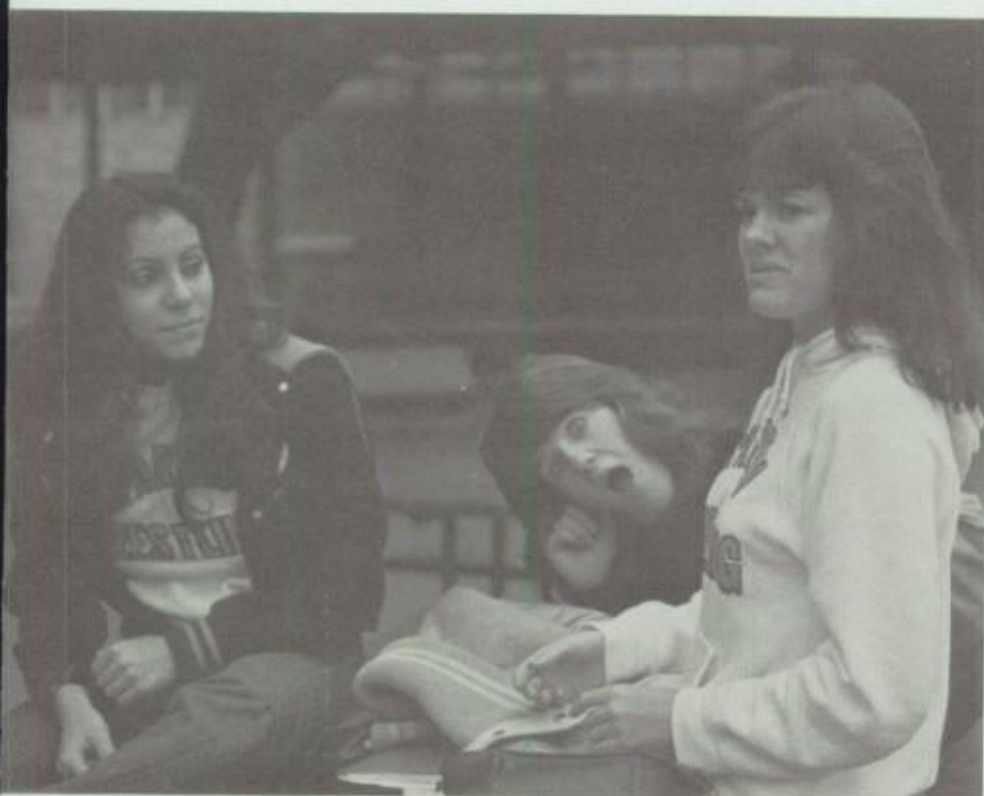

Wrestling was not a sport that received a lot of attention from the student body and had some difficulties staying alive. One league competitor, Downey, dropped wrestling because of funding, according to Coach Don Lanphear. Davis' program did not suffer that much except that wrestlers are unable to receive food money.

Wrestlers work hard to become top in their weight division, even between team members. Although there are J.V. and Varsity teams, competition between team mates determines, regardless of grade level, whether one is a J.V. or Varsity wrestler.

Junior Varsity standouts were Greg Amador at 107, Stan Cook at 140, and James Nott as Heavyweight.

Tennis tries to regain section championship

by Dimitry Philipovitch

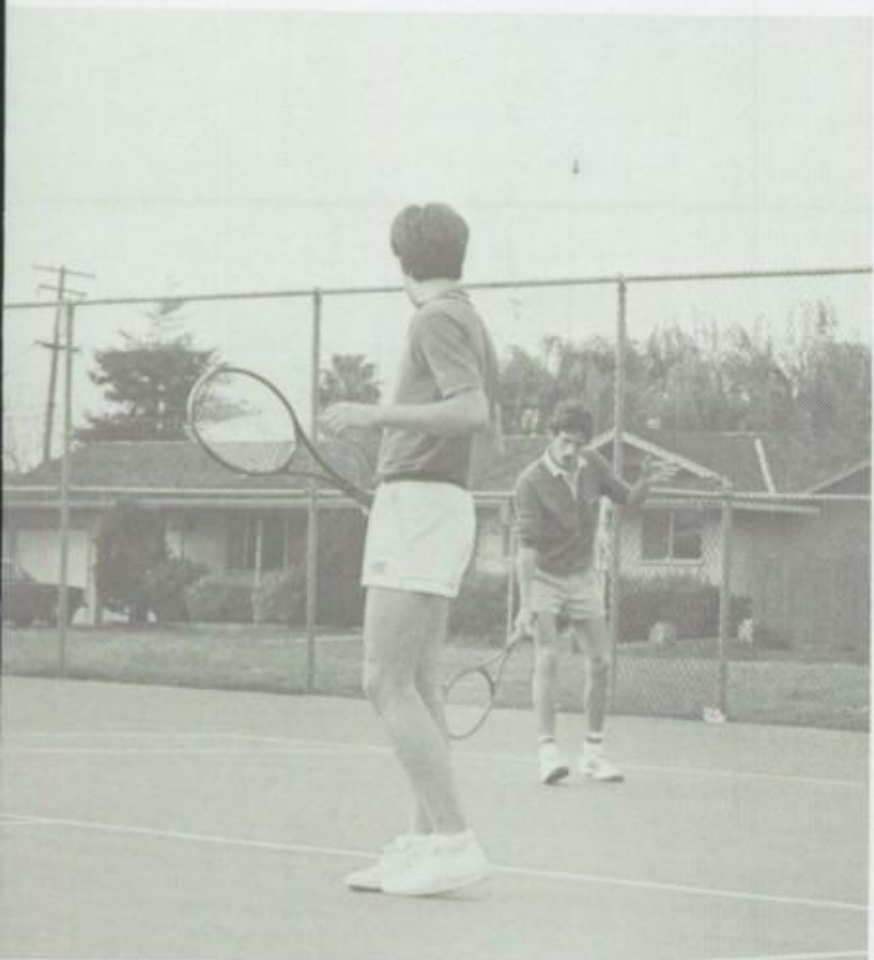

The 1983 Varsity Tennis team is trying to regain the crown that was taken away from them last year: the section championship. "We shouldn't have any trouble winning CCC and hopefully the sections," replied junior Geoff Sprinkle. Standouts Brett Barton, Don Barbe, Scott Posey, and freshman Steve Matthews could make that come true. The Spartans have won CCC titles five of the past six years, and have netted five section championships. In mid March, the varsity team spot holders were Barton, Barbe, Posey, Matthews, Scott Williams, Frank Runyon, and Sprinkle. The top six players have secured themselves spots on the ladder with three players fighting for the last Varsity spot. Sprinkle is the spot holder with Pete Faletta and Rich McNabb his main competitors. "Davis' toughest opponents will be Downey and Beyer," replied junior standout Brett Barton. Players such as Matthews and McNabb will be testing their skills along with more experienced performers such as Barbe and Posey. The team is getting along well with their new head coach, Cam Finley, and is treating him no differently than previous coach, Bev Gilmore. He's enthusiastic about the outcome of the season and is looking forward to watching his team play against others. Under 14 Montana State Champion, Steve Matthews, is also looking forward to play with the Spartans. As Coach Finley replied, "He's a consistent player and needs more experience to become an excellent player."

Track tries to repeat as champions

by Dimitry Philipovitch

The 1982-83 track team tried to do what they accomplished last year. At this point, the league opener is over a month away. As head coach, Rick Gunther, stated, "We should have a good team and should do as well as last year." In the previous season, varsity track team won their first title in 10 years. They had strong participants in a majority of the events.

Although the team has lost a few key members, they were expected to be one of the top teams in the league. Their toughest opponent will be Merced. Davis' team leaders were Mike Haefflinger, in the high jump, Ron Hobbs in shot put and Scott Weiss in the discus. Leading runners on the team were David Layne in the 100 meter, Jim Wall in the 220, and 400 meter, Jim Hawkins in the 880, Scott Proctor, in hurdles, and Craig Sawyer and Troy Gray in mile, and 2 mile. At the time this was written, competition had not begun. The field event members had just begun to practice their specific events.

"It's either that they like what they're doing, or it's that we haven't worked them hard enough," remarked Coach Gunther concerning their pre-season practices. He also commented, "They are getting in shape and can't wait until the season goes under way. It won't be an individual effort, as it's been in the past few years. It will take a group effort to do well, and I think we can do it."

Star sprinter Jim Wall added, "Our toughest opponents will be Merced. The championship will be settled when we meet." It should be a very exciting season as the Spartans try to wrap-up another CCC title.

Frosh-Soph, Girls predict success

by Jennifer Klopatek

The 1983 Frosh-Soph Track team looked very promising. Their strong points were the field events. Rob Taro in the shot put and discus, Jamie Nott, shot put, and Robert Reynolds in the pole vault, were leaders in their events. Leading runners included Ron Nora in the 200 and 400 meter, Brent King in the 880, mile and 2 mile, and Victor Vierra in the 800 meter, mile and two mile. This is a young team which was ready to take on others. "They're a good bunch and will do a good job," remarked Coach Rich Gunther.

Girls track team should do as well as last year. They've retained most of their outstanding athletes. Gunther predicts they should do as well as any other team in CCC and even better. Excellent team members included Becky Taylor in the discus, Stephanie Leitner in the high jump, Leslie Kimbrell in the long jump and hurdles, Betsy Crawford, in the mile and 2 mile and Alix Tubman in the 880. "It's all a team effort. In order to do well, the whole team has to do their best. They've got to go out there and give it all they've got," coach Gunther remarked about the girls. "They're strong and ambitious and want to do their best. They should be a tough team to beat and have a crack at the title," Gunther concluded.

Improvement expected and achieved

by Jennifer Klopatek

The Frosh-Soph Boys Swim team was "inexperienced, but should improve by their senior year," commented Coach Brent Bohlender. Many hours were spent swimming laps and gaining endurance. The Frosh-Soph Boys were hoping to gain experience over the season, and most accomplished that goal.

Varsity Boys started their season March 1. They had long practices in the mornings and after school. Returning swimmers who were expected to do well were Rob Larson in 50 and 100 free style, Eric Fischer in 500 free style, Scott George in 500 free style, Dale Wissman in 100 fly, and Louis Shupp in 100 breast.

The boys first meet was March 15, and the team did well. Reno is what the team looked forward to most. The team spent two weekends in Reno competing against other schools. "We expect to do well in the CCC with our returning swimmers," Coach Bohlender concluded.

Girls Swimming and Diving—all hard work

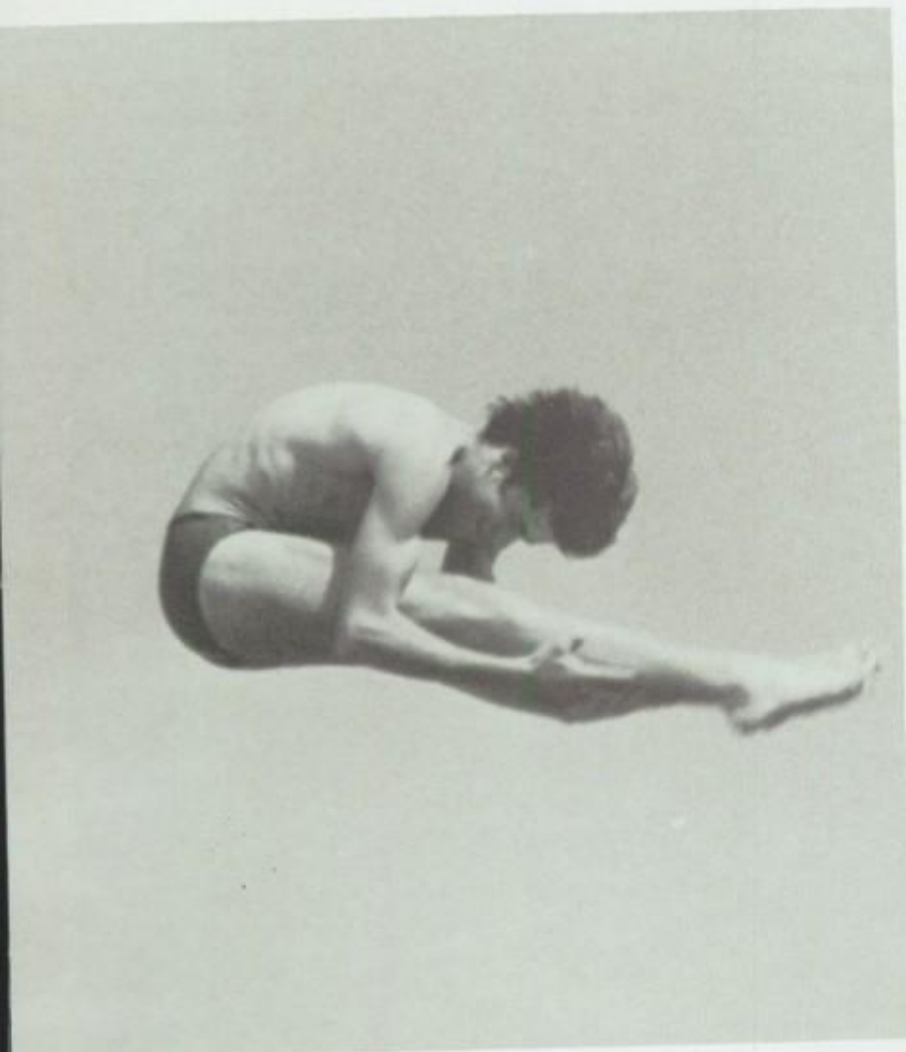

by Jennifer Klopatek

Divers started their practices in early March when temperatures still ranged from 30 to 60 degrees. Diving team had a great amount of talent with returning divers Karen Edling, John Lacey, John Searls, and Dana Leatherwood stated Coach Brent Bohlender. Hours were spent perfecting the many dives needed to achieve success in this difficult sport.

Girls swimming also began in early March with the girls spending an hour in the morning and two hours after school practicing and trying to improve their times. Strong returning swimmers were Liz Matheny in the 50 and 100 free, Michelle Carroll in the 200 individual medley and Janell Neimi and Angie Bateman in the 500 free. Many girls felt the competition was tough but hoped to do well in CCC. Swimming takes a great deal of dedication in order to improve. Swimming is not all fun and games, as most people think, but it takes a lot of hard work and long, long practices to do well.

Varsity expects high finish in CCC

by Rick Taylor

Early in the season Varsity Baseball had its troubles. After three games the Spartans had compiled a 0-2-1 record against some formidable opponents. In two out of the three games they took the lead early only to fall prey in later innings.

Spartan leaders were seniors John Sereno, Andrew Bearden, Rod Hampton, Rick Ebster, Bill Brown, Chris Hayes, Craig Chalk, Rick Bello, and Brian Olinger. Some juniors who showed promise were Bret Wall, George Green, Jerry Jackson, John Ratazzi, and Curt Davis. Pitching was a team strong point. The pitching staff included Hayes, Sereno, Bearden, Olinger, Ratazzi, and Rich Howell. With a smooth combination of juniors and seniors, the Spartans looked forward to a high finish in league. The team felt confident that if they played together they could accomplish this goal.

Varsity baseball team also included Greg Gillen, Todd Daily, David Silva, Chris Deatrick and Joel Broumas.

Frosh and Soph go for the fences

by Rick Taylor

With high hopes, Sophomore Baseball opened their 1983 season. The team's strength was predicted as offense with strong batters such as Jose Pinto, Dan Stark, Doug Tackett, and Darrin Abbey.

Defensively the Spartans were led by Mike Pitcock, Pinto, Abbey, Stark, and Howard Stice.

Having such an excellent season as freshmen, the Sophomore team was expected to place high in CCC.

On the other hand, the Freshmen

Baseball team was not blessed with as much talent as in years past. The 1983 team would have had to use pure grit and determination to achieve, and that was the deciding factor in the Spartans' season.

1. Jose Pinto prepares to throw out a Downey runner.

Golf and Softball looking for chance

by Suzie McGuigan

Softball was full of competition at the beginning of the season. Six people were competing for one outfield position and a couple of infield positions were still up for grabs in mid March

"We have a chance to be a contender if we continue to improve. I think we will improve," said coach Bruce Emerson. "The teams to beat are Merced and Atwater."

Varsity standouts were Julie Caldwell, Patti Guptill, Tracy Lee, Jan Roberts, and Tammie Skidmore. JV standouts were Ellen Sanders, Jennifer Nutson, Allison Weaver.

Twelve members made up the golf team. Coach Beverly Johnson said she enjoys working with golf team members and finds the team very enjoyable. Golf looks good. The team to beat is Merced, and Davis is looking for second place according to Coach Johnson. Standouts were Matt Goldor, David Bates, Debbie Burris and Keri Arnold.

Students take responsibility in stride

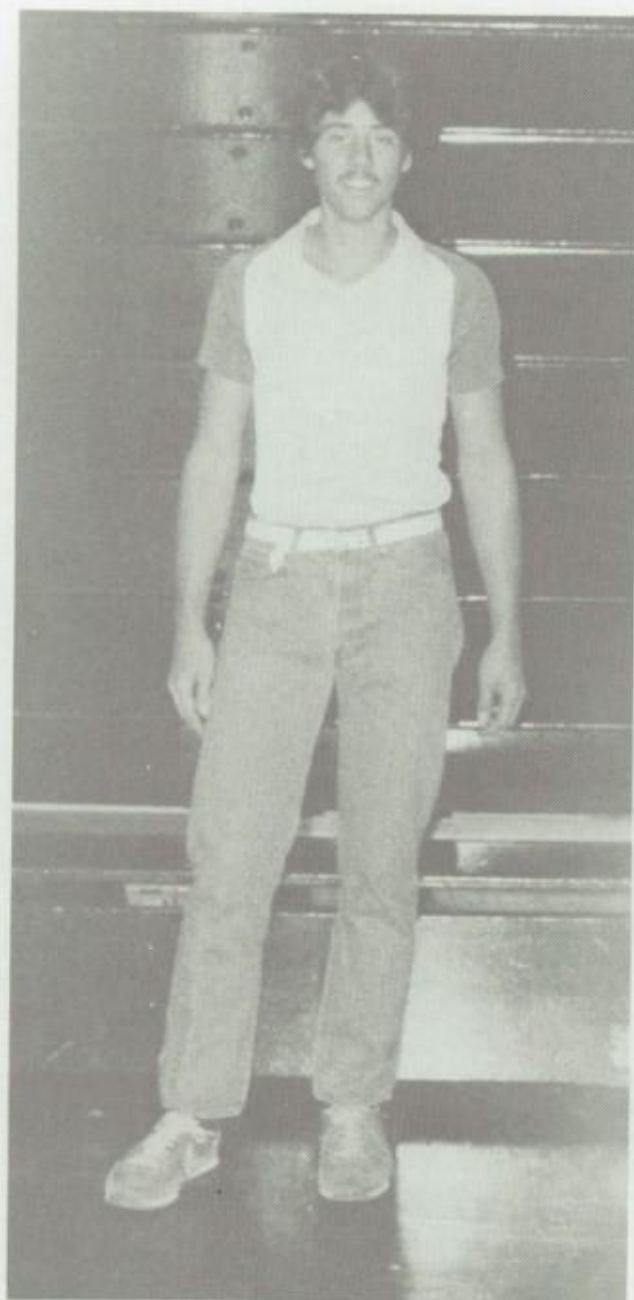

by Anne Manrique

Many people take the managers and statisticians for granted. These people are extremely important to the players and to the coaches. They take care of anything and everything from keeping game stats to taking care of equipment. Taking stats involves total concentration. The figures that these people take, such as the number of times a player tackles an opponent and the yardage of each team member, must be seen and recorded. Many people feel really nervous before taking stats for the first time because they know that they have a lot of responsibilities. Karen Edling, a basketball statistician for the past three years, said, "Taking stats is a lot of fun because you can get really involved in the game, but it is also a lot of work!" These next three pages show the dedicated stats and managers, who get so little recognition and thanks, but contribute much in order to make the teams at Davis High the best that they can be.

The face behind the familiar voice

by Anne Manrique

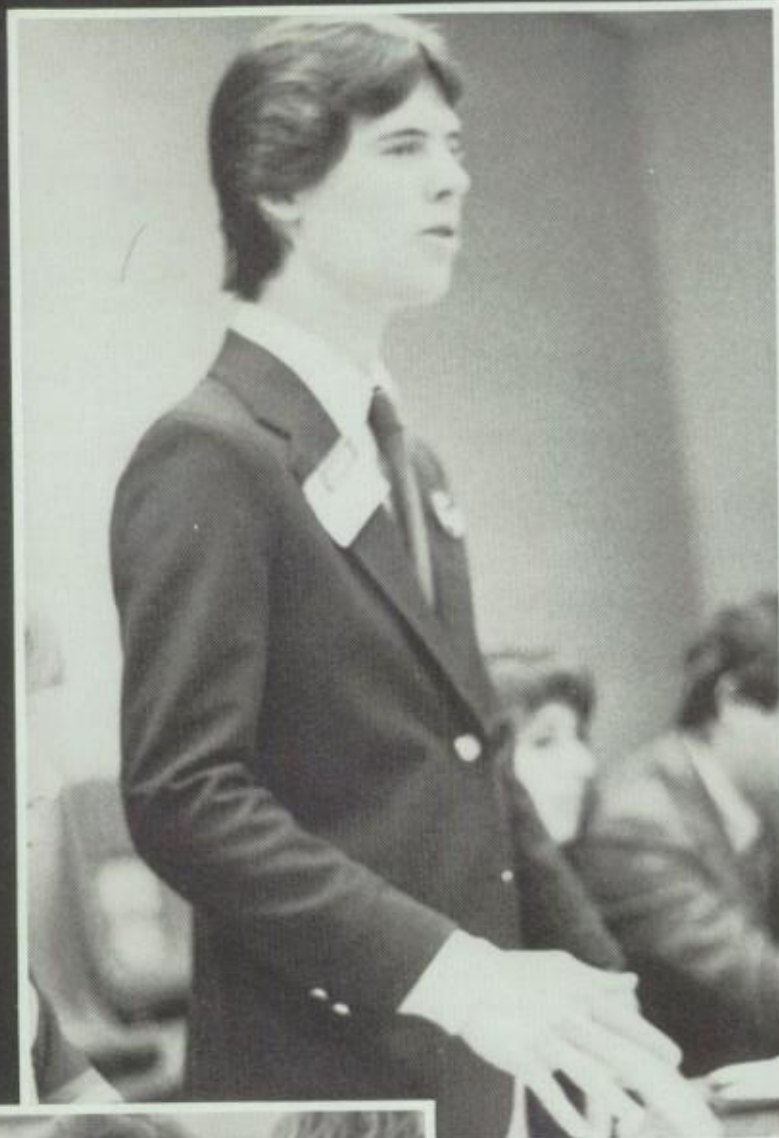

Remember the announcer which told loyal Spartan fans the facts of the football game? If you don't, you are one of the many at Davis who never knew who this energetic person was. In fact, John Gonsalves, the football announcer, has received little recognition for his fine work and long hours. John began announcing the sophomore games when he was a sophomore. His junior year, he announced both varsity and sophomore games from 5:45 to nearly 10 pm. John sat above the rooting section and relied mainly on himself, his spotters, Counselor Barbara Steele and Barry Wissman, and the coaches who sent information via headphones. Miss Steele said, "John had to make his voice sound interesting — Not too bored or too excited and he had to be heard clearly." John's abilities were recognized at the C.I.F.-San-Joaquin section playoff game held at M.J.C. between Tracy and Cordova. When Davis hosted the playoff game, the school was allowed to choose an impartial adult to handle the play by play. John was chosen to announce the game, and he really enjoyed doing it. John feels the time spent was worth it because "I gained alot from this experience and had a good time too!"

CLASS OF '83

Challenges on life's way

It's a knowledge that we achieve as we pass the many tests that life challenges us with.

To search for understanding is to know confusion . . .

To know hate is to have felt the pain of loving . . .

To know sorrow helps one to appreciate happiness . . .

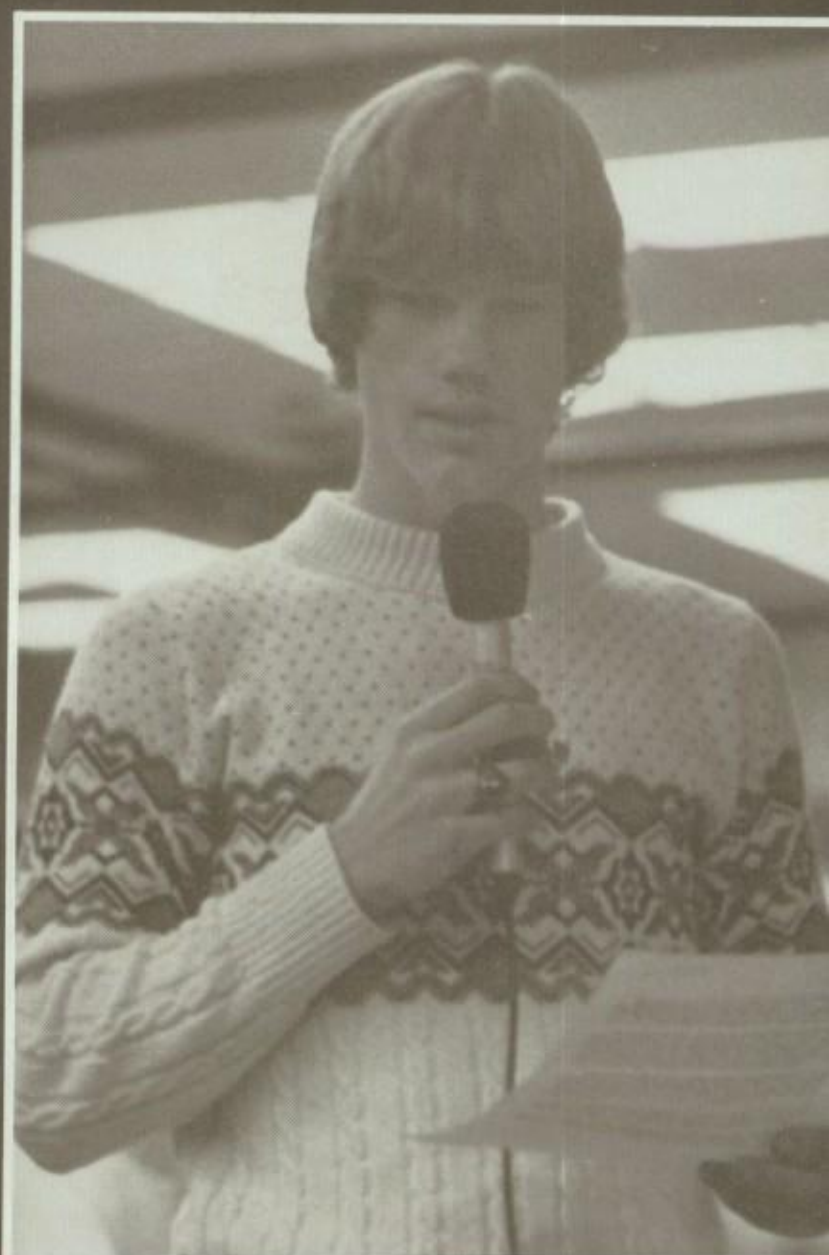

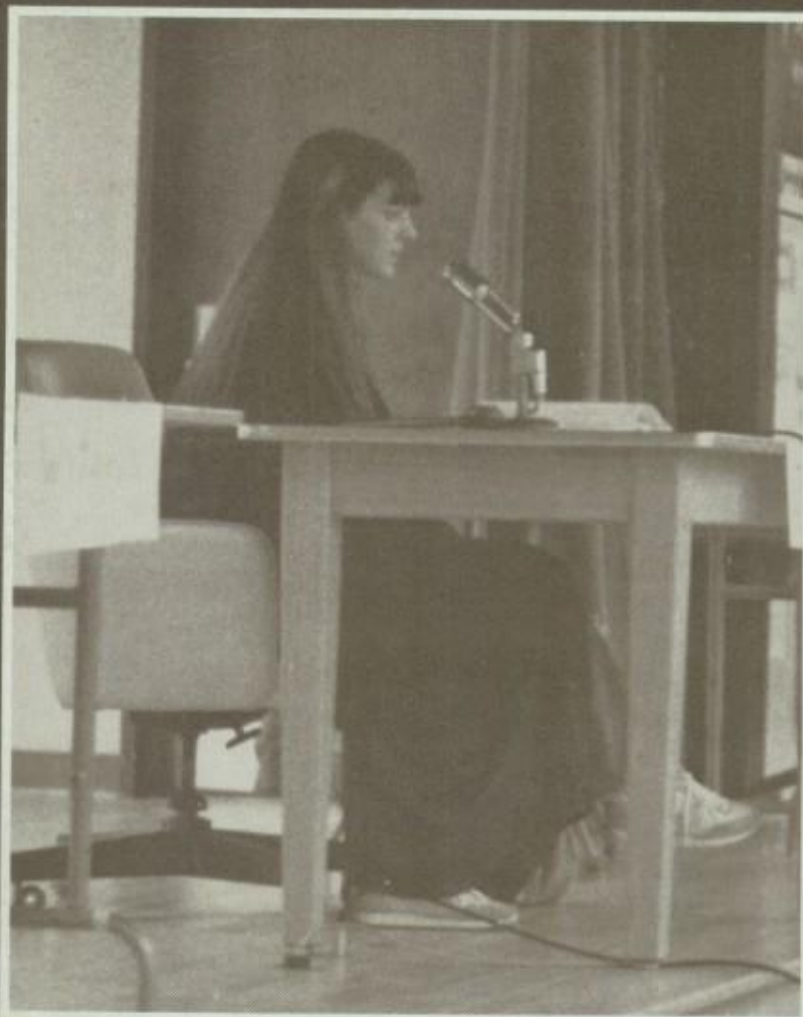

To find strength is to understand weakness . . .

To shed a tear is to know the situation of our world . . .

To practice patience with oneself is but one of the many keys to wisdom . . .

For you are your worst enemy, your best friend.

For Members Only

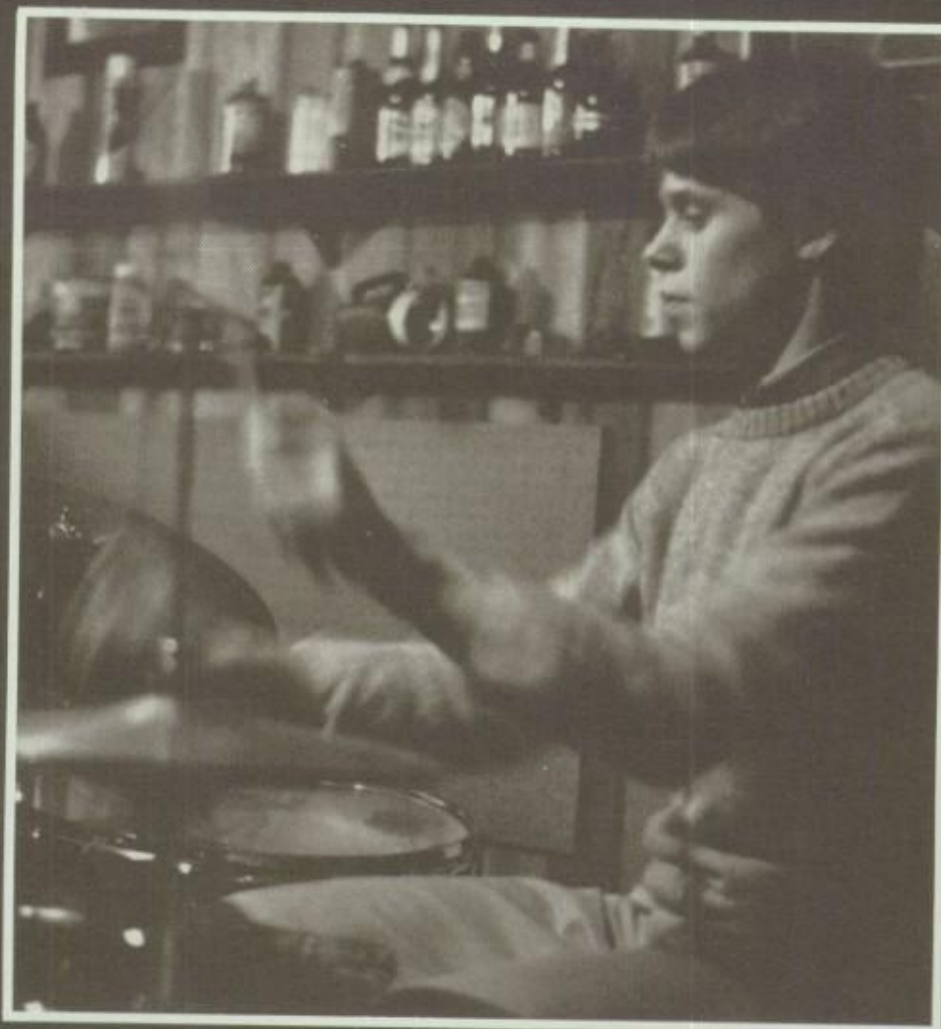

by Susan Mendieta

"I look forward to being famous, having an album, and having my picture on the cover of the Rolling Stone," replied Dan Lashkoff, drummer for the band Members Only.

Members Only consists of Dan and three others who attend MJC. They play at private parties, weddings, and at the library. Dan states they play rock'n'roll mixed with some new wave. When asked who he idolizes, he answered Keith Moon, Ringo Starr and Charlie Watts. He enjoys the Rolling Stones, Beatles, and the Kinks, just to name a few.

Dan has been playing drums for four years and has participated in four other bands. Dan's favorite thing is performing in front of people.

Dan also mentioned that there are some problems. For example, he mentioned the difficulty of moving his instrument, and at times there are disagreements within the members of Members Only.

Yes—we're still Girl Scouts

by Susan Mendieta

Not many senior girls would admit they're Girl Scouts. But here are two who did. Leah Hamilton and Lisa Low have been in scouting since second grade. Girl Scouts don't just sell cookies and calendars. They go camping, learn new things, and have their share of the fun. Among the things they learn are camping skills, responsibility and the skills necessary for a woman to survive in today's world. During their junior year, the girls accepted the duty of leaders-in-training to elementary age girls at Fremont School. Since this will be their last year as Girl Scouts, they are planning a trip to top off all those years in scouting.

Look at him now

by Susan Mendieta

David Paradise started skating as a four year old in a nearby park. When he was six, an ice rink was opened and he then skated there. But look at him now. He has played on New Bedford, Massachusetts, Stockton, Dublin and Northern California all-Star teams. Not only that, he has traveled to Canada on several occasions to compete. His Stockton ice hockey team won all four of the games played in San Diego and was named State Champs for 1977-78. David received Most Inspirational Player that season.

David played hockey in New Bedford until October of 1977 when he moved to California. The very next month he started playing in Stockton, and his team got first place.

David has played ice hockey a total of 11 years. Presently he is taking a break from ice hockey to do more skiing.

Jan gets her kicks

by Susan Mendieta

What 17 year old girl played soccer on a boys' team for two years, plays softball on the Davis team, most likely the only girl who has played the tuba for the Davis band, and was named defensive most valuable player? The only girl who can boast this and more is Jan Roberts. Jan started soccer in 1976 when Modesto Youth Soccer Association was formed. For two years she was the only girl on a boys' team until a girls' team was started. Jan has been on four first place teams out of five. When she entered high school Jan played on the boys JV team. During her freshman year she also participated on the State A Soccer team. Her sophomore year, Jan was on the State B team due to a broken foot before try-outs. Jan received the honor of defensive M.V.P. 1980-81 season. Her senior year she again tried out for the state A team. "Then there's the fact that I play softball and the tuba," commented Jan when she was asked for more information. Her second year on the softball team she made Varsity!

Senior lookback

by Kim Bystrom & Monica Murrietta

It all started on Freshman Orientation Day, a bright, sunny day in August, and ended on June 10, 1983 with unending rows of dazed graduates and proud parents. Though the days in between, at times, seemed infinite, they hold unparalleled memories which will linger forever in the mind of each graduate of the Class of '83.

Taking a step into 1979, our freshman year, we see wary students lurking through the unfamiliar halls of an unknown territory, hoping to be excluded from a practical joke. Sophomore year saw ambitious students with high hopes and optimistic outlooks. It also saw an abundance of unexperienced drivers.

The year of 1981-82, junior year, for many was the year of great change. A part-time job was the time-consumer for some, while others found "new ways" to spend their time with long-time high school buds. Senior year finally arrived, a relief, yet, more times than not, a fear. The security vanished as we were faced with vital decisions. Senior year also brought us a lot of new experiences: Government, a team-taught class of 100+. The well-known "Senior Ditch Day", 26 hours of pure enjoyment. A monotonous pile of forms, whether it be for scholarships, surveys or college applications. These memories led to the most prominent day of all: graduation, a day which is just one stepping stone to the ultimate success of the Class of 1983.

Junior Bests' involved

by Michelle Dilkian

When informed that they had been voted Best All-Around, Alix Tubman and David Layne were both shocked. Both were heavily involved with school activities. Alix was a member of S Club and was on both the cross-country and track teams. David was also on the track team and played football. Alix keeps active in her spare time. She likes to ski in the winter and go to the lake in the summer. She also likes to fish. David likes to spend his spare time tossing a football around with friends. College is the goal of both Junior Class Bests. Alix is not sure what kind of career she wants. David wants to become a chef.

Josh Umsted considers target shooting an art. Josh learned the skill of target shooting when he was seven years old and has been shooting in matches ever since. He began shooting as a result of his father's influence. He has won many first and second place medals and awards in state and regional competitions. He is a member of the Modesto Rifle Club where he practices and competes in matches. He owns five special guns whose prices range up to $600. The most expensive of these is his German target rifle. Josh enjoys his hobby and plans to continue it in the future.

Junior inspired through art

by Michelle Dilkian

Kris Hinton began her interest in art about five years ago. A neighbor inspired her and taught her much of what she knows. Kris has never had any formal lesson, but has taken art classes in school for four years. Kris has been a member of the Davis Art Club the past two years. She has entered many contests, among them are the Young Masters Show, The Second Annual Festival for the Arts, and the First Federal Savings & Loan Calendar Contest. She also has designed a sale label for Robbin's Mountain Shop which appeared in the Modesto Bee.

Kris' interests in art are widespread. They range from abstract to landscapes. Kris plans on becoming either a commercial artist or working with computers.

King sisters express selves

by Marlene Youngheim

Sisters Juliette and Claudia King are extremely talented. Besides ability in Jazz, tap, ballet and modern dance, they have singing talent. Their six years of performing experience includes dancing and singing in Modesto Youth Theatre and Somerset Junior High choir. The girls' mother and sister also sing. They feel the four have an inborn talent. Juliette and Claudia are not one person with one talent, but two people with two talents. When Juliette and Claudia are dancing they feel competition against each other. In the past when asked to do a duet or dance together, they preferred to perform with someone else or alone.

"I just love it," Juliette remarked about dancing. Claudia said, "It's a way of do-what-you-want."

Flying high

by Anne Manrique

Have you seen any KC-135's, U-2's or SR71's lately? Dan Dorman could tell you much about these, which are just a few of the names of Air Force's airplanes. Dan became fascinated with airplanes and the Air Force when he was in the fifth grade. To increase his knowledge of the subject he read many books on aeronautics and weaponry. Dan has built over 25 models of American and foreign jets and bombers. He has toured two air force bases, Castle and Beale. At Beale he had the privilege of touring the base compliments of the commander. There he learned even more information about continental missiles, pressure chambers and life in the Air Force. Dan will pursue a career in this branch of the armed services and, hopefully, will continue his training until he reaches his ultimate goal — working for NASA in the Space Shuttle Program.

Racer shows BMX style

by Julie Martin

Know what UBR and BMX stands for? Brando Prestridge knows. He said UBR stands for United Bicycle Riders and BMX is Bicycle Motor Cross. He should know because he won the National UBR at King's BMX for racing. This mini super-star was inspired at the early age of seven by friends of the family. After competing in racing, he moved on to the more competitive aspect of racing: free style. Brandon travels all over California to free style shows which he does as hard work and pure enjoyment. His equipment is extremely expensive. He has two Kuwahara's, pads, jerseys, and, most important, his helmet. When asked his goals and idol, he replied, "I hope to be on the BMX action trick team and achieve as well as R. L. Osborn, a senior on the action trick team in Southern California."

Groups demonstrate brainy talented kids

by Shauna Thurman

Dedication played a large part in both choir and the Academic Decathlon. Choir had fewer members than anticipated, therefore each member put out a little more effort than was expected. Choir was back after a few years absence and had an addition. Dennis Bray and John Carter were the two new instructors. Bray and Carter would come and teach those talented students each morning before school. Their confidence and support encouraged those who also had to get up at an earlier time. Davis High students had a chance to listen to a spectacular Christmas performance by the choir on December 12.

Academic Decathlon, filled with students with high expectations, placed quite high. They received second place in an overall view. Mr. Adair, a very supportive coach, commented, "I am very proud of the team this year. If I had to pick the group over, I wouldn't have picked any other group."

New face seem to like Davis High

The most exciting new faces on campus is that of Principal Tim Tweedie. Dr. Tweedie, who comes from the Bay Area, studied at San Francisco State University and University of San Francisco receiving his doctor's degree in education. Dr. Tweedie taught several subjects at a Pacifica school for a total of eight years, then was assistant principal at Morgan Hill High School for six years. Dr. Tweedie visited the Modesto community, enjoyed the area and decided to apply for the Davis principal's position. After a series of interviews and paperwork, Dr. Tweedie was hired. He finds the position very challenging. Dr. Tweedie remarked, "Davis has an active campus, an excellent staff, and excellent students. I plan to keep it that way and make it even better." Dr. Tweedie has two boys Nathan, 8, and Matthew, 5. His wife, Judy, is an elementary school teacher but is not presently teaching. Dr. Tweedie enjoys working with people, talking with students, seeing students learn and grow, and attending as many student functions as possible. His hobbies include tennis, camping, going to the mountains, and being with his family.

Welcome!

by Shauna Thurman

Changes occur every day in every aspect of our lives. In 1983 changes in the school program included the teaching staff. For example, Glenna Anderson, art, and Dorita Robinson, English and photography, have been welcomed back by fellow teachers and grateful students after a year's leave. Mr. Parrill, mathematics, left us for an extensive leave in the spring semester. Mary Wilkins was hired to take Parrill's place. Carl Heller, science, and Ken Weaver, social studies, announced their retirements.

Davis students also noticed three new faces around campus. Dick Finn, industrial education replaced retiree Lloyd Raymond. Dorace Merenda, special education, took the opening created when Bob Harvey transferred to Beyer. Roger Dickson, agriculture, took over for Tim Rollins who went to Rio Vista. Taking the place of Marion Quessenberry who retired, was Bev Gilmore. She taught science as well as physical education.

World, and Local Events

WORLD NEWS

El Salvador remained in turmoil. Four American women missionaries were killed there in 1980. President Reagan spent millions of dollars in military aid for El Salvador and, at the latest, proposed sending American troops to help them fight.

Unemployment reached new heights world-wide that had not been seen in America since the "Great Depression" of the '30s.

On the brighter side, England's newest heir to the throne, Prince William Arthur Philip Louis, was born to Prince Charles and Princess Diana on June 21, 1982.

NATIONAL NEWS

The '82 election brought to California a new Governor and a new State Assemblyman. Governor George "Duke" Deukmejian brought to office many fresh ideas, but because of the state's deficit, he had to resort to the unpopular issuing of IOU's to pay some state workers and income tax returns.

For the first time in history, California was honored by a visit from Britain's Queen Elizabeth. Starting in San Diego, her Majesty's trip was hindered by continual rainstorms.

Her visit included a trip to President Reagan's home in Santa Barbara and to Yosemite.

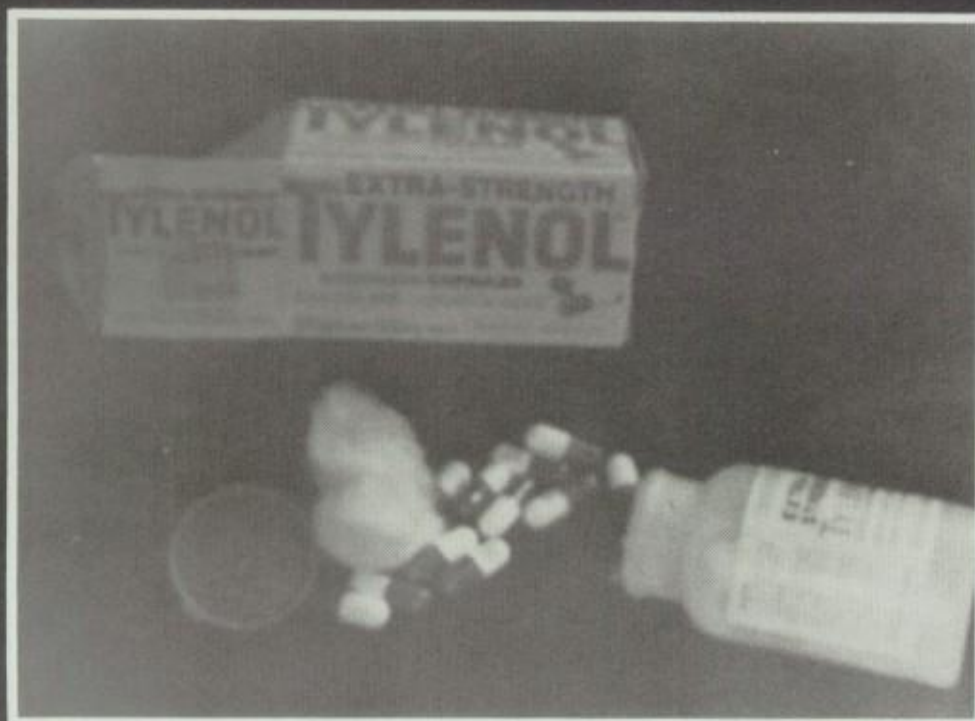

When John DeLorean's automobile industry ran into financial difficulties, he allegedly got himself into cocaine trafficking to bail his industry out of trouble.

In Salt Lake City, Utah, Barney Clark was the first man to receive an artificial heart. Although, there were some difficulties following his operation, he was later able to get up and do light callisthenics.

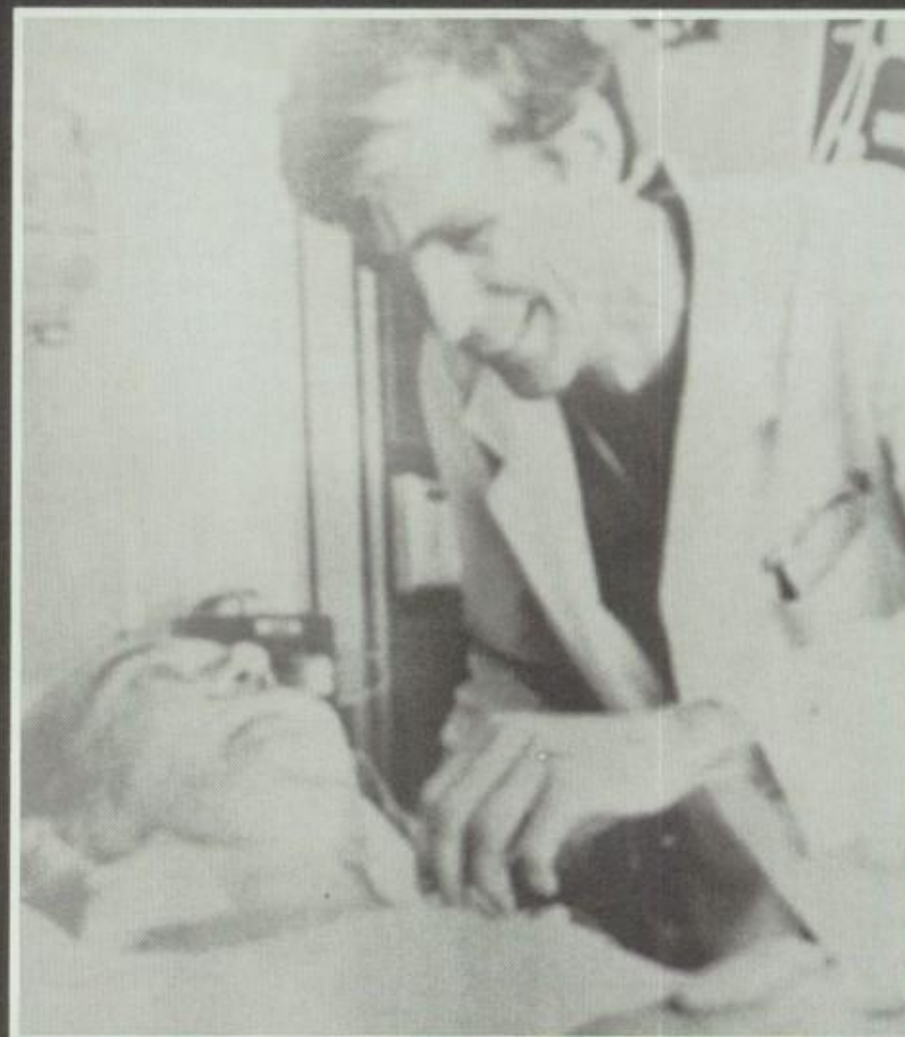

President Reagan's expected announcement in late November, asked Congress to fund the "dense pack" plan for basing America's new MX missiles. A dense pack is a concept that calls for deploying multi warhead ICBM's extremely close together for protection. The plan faced a tough battle in Congress with claims that it violated the Salt I arms-control accord. The plan was rejected on December 27, 1982.

President Reagan came under political pressure from a new direction in late November when fellow Republicans demanded faster economic recovery.

In early 1983, unemployment figures for the Central Valley were at 22%, while the stock market broke records. For the first time it went above 1,000 points.

SPORT NEWS

In sports, a new football league was formed while the old went on strike. The United States Football League got its beginning last summer and the NFL broke its strike in time for the Washington Redskins to become Super Bowl Champions.

Tennis had two of its old pros back in the spotlight. Jimmy Connors not only won at Wimbledon for the second time, but he also chalked up another win in the U.S. Open. Another winner at the U.S. Open was Chris Evert Lloyd, who won it for the sixth time in her career.

A tragedy was brought to the world of boxing when Korean boxer Duk Ku Kim died after a brutal match against "Boom-Boom" Mancini. He was knocked unconscious during the boxing match and never regained consciousness. His mother, unable to cope with the loss, later killed herself back in Korea.

As the sport of track and field gains in popularity, more and more attention is being focused on four outstanding athletes. Two of these athletes are members of the reputable track club, Athletics West in Eugene, Oregon.

Mary Decker Tabb is one and Alberto Salazar is the other. Tabb had an undefeated year with a total of 18 world and American records. She was also the recipient of prestigious Sullivan Award given to the athlete of the year.

Salazar's year was not as record-breaking as Tabb's, but sensational just the same. He too had an undefeated year and was the winner of the "Male Runner of the Year" award. Both are American Olympic hopefuls for '84.

Irish born Eamonn Coghlin was the first man to ever run the mile race indoors in under three minutes and fifty seconds. His new world record was set at 3:49.78.

One young track and field star you may know is moving up, literally. His name is Tyke Peacock, the former MJC star who now does his high jump magic for Fresno State University. Peacock took the men's high jump title at the U.S. Olympic Track and Field Championships, and highjumped his way to a number of major wins. His seasonal record was marred by only one loss this year. His highest jump accomplished was 7 ft. 6 3/4 in.

LATE AND GREAT

The world joined the U.S.S.R. in mourning for the passing of their president Leonid Brezhnev. President Brezhnev governed the U.S.S.R. for the past 18 years.

The entertainment world was diminished by the loss of many great talents. Among them:

John Belushi who was found dead in his room on March 5, 1982, apparently the victim of a drug overdose.

Ingrid Bergman, talented film star, lost a valiant battle against cancer and died on August 29, 1982.

Karen Carpenter, the talented singer died suddenly of heart failure on February 4, 1983. She had been fighting the debilitating effects of Anorexia Nervosa for the past nine years.

Henry Fonda received his first Academy Award for his portrayal of Norman Thayer in "On Golden Pond" shortly before his death.

Grace Kelly, Hollywood's fairy tale princess, suffered an apparent stroke and died when her car ran off the road.

Davis After Hours

by Renee Dixon

"6:30 am?" "7:00 pm?" If you ask most students, they'll say the day doesn't start until after the final bell at 2:10. Then it's a human stampede to the parking lot to see who will be the first to escape from the prison that held them.

Students do various activities after school. Some are involved in competitive sports which required hours of practice before and after school. Many of the students have jobs to go to after their monotonous schedule which gloriously ended at the sound of the last bell.

During the weekends many of the Davis student body went out for a little get together with a few friends. They might also go cruzin' down McHenry.

During the winter it's up to the slopes

we go to get in some long-awaited skiing. But during the summer it is off to the lake for a taste of summer fun. Hopefully, there might be a few good concerts in the area.

One finds that students do a variety of activities after school. One just has to find the right way to spend his own plan for "escape."

Grace Davis high produces

Grace Da-vis High our praise to thee, thy ban-ners green and gold.

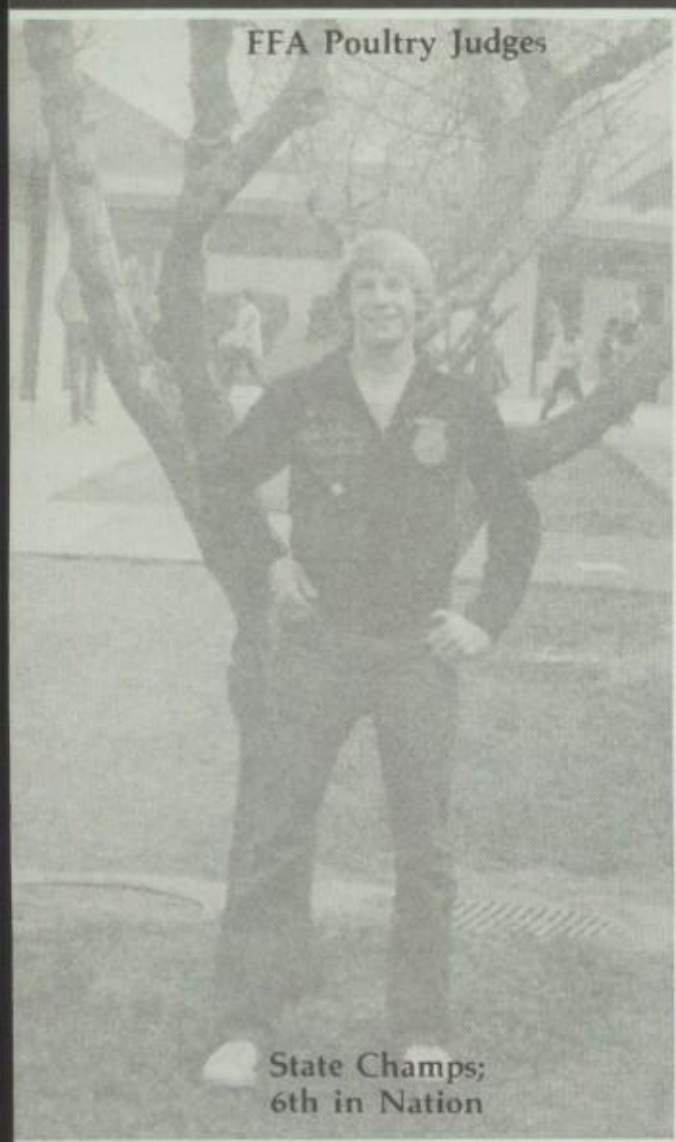

by Anne Manrique

Davis showed winning style in a variety of activities. Several Spartans were recognized by the Modesto Bee for their excellence as Preps of the Week. These included Doug Moore and John Burgi for performances in football, Rob Larson as water polo goalie, Frank Runyon as kicker in football, Craig Sawyer, track, and John O'Brien and Scott Proctor, wrestling. In tennis, brother and sister duo Don and Cici Barbe combined their talents to compete in the Equitable Life Family Tennis Tournament held in concert with the U.S. Open in New York City. In other areas, Sonja Lucy captured the DECA State representative title. By the end of the spring season we expect that many more Spartans will have achieved excellence in their fields.

Special Thanks

A special "Thank you" must go to a few people who made the hectic production of the Olympian tolerable.

Matt Bowers, an outstanding photographer from newspaper staff, could be counted on to shoot, develop, or print last-minute pictures.

Renee Crawshaw, Editor-in-Chief of Corinthian, wrote some truly admirable copy for the "Corinthian" spread.

Deanna Meeker wrote the poetry seen on page 112. The everpopular Government teachers, Robert Smith, Robert Jackson and Ken Adair unselfishly allowed yearbook staff to conduct the Senior Best election during their class.

Sandy Woo, Josten's artist, was a great help to the editors in designing opening theme pages. Les Peterson, Josten's representative helped us with everything from the cover design to the management of our money.

And last, but certainly not least, the entire staff would like to say, "Thank you" to Mrs. Gertrude Hogue, our irreplaceable advisor. Her worthy suggestions and constructive criticism were highly regarded. And the late afternoons she spent with us are greatly appreciated!

And to our Photographers . . .

Jim Wall, chief photographer, led his staff consisting of Julie Martin, Alex Jimenez, Doug Hammerstrom and Jon Goodrow as they devoted an infinite number of hours to the shooting, developing and printing of pictures. They also had to put up with all the frustrating questions from unhappy staff members.

We would like to acknowledge Alex Jimenez as the photographer of the picture seen on the cover. It was chosen out of a multitude of pictures taken by Jim's staff.

Doug Hammerstrom deserves recognition for the outstanding color shots he took of the Davis halls during the night and the activity court picture he shot after a seasonal rain. These pictures can be found on opening pages. He is also responsible for all the pictures on the "Entertainment" page.

Julie Martin was also a dedicated photographer. She was more than willing to take pictures and many times she would rearrange her busy schedule just to take a picture or two.

Jon Goodrow also did a lot of the dark-room jobs, such as developing and printing. And, finally, Jim Wall, chief photographer, who worked a lot of overtime in the dark room. He managed to try and stay undisturbed by all of the interruptions and objections thrown at him while an upcoming deadline was near.

So to those devoted few . . . THANK YOU!!

A commendable staff

It was a year of desperate cries for help, yells for clean-up, misspelled names, coverage of games, complaining editors, commendable cooperation, short tempers, lengthy headlines, good news from Josten's, bad news from the same, last-minute pictures, on-the-spot rough drafts, reliable typists, trusted photographers, unending indexing, tiresome editing, dreaded proofs, and long-awaited satisfaction.

The actual production of the 1982-83 Olympian began last year around March. Endless brainstorming sessions eventually led to what seemed like a long upcoming year with an abundance of work. Thanks to our six returning members, Susan Mendieta, Michelle Dilkian, Andrea Dixon, Jim Wall, Jennifer Klopatek and Julie Martin, the theme "The Best and Getting Better" was decided upon. Though patience tended to be scarce and tension tended to be high, members eventually discovered an unsurpassed closeness between each other. Layout designs were chosen and production began almost as quickly as it ended.

In the fall of '82, members of the 1982-83 Olympian Staff had a common goal. We wanted to make this yearbook unique in many ways. Although many aspects of previous Davis High yearbooks are simply a matter of tradition, we found ways to combine tradition with unventured ideas in order to create an unparalleled publication. Starting with the cover, many may notice a color which has never been used. A substantial difference can be found in the design of the opening theme pages and the faculty section. The sports section also has a distinctive layout pattern throughout. Creative minds, numerous talents and auspicious outlooks were all major factors in what we felt was a triumphant year.

Anne Manrique produced superior work in every subject she undertook. The newspaper layout is evidence of her great ability. Her performance on the "Statisticians", "Dance Production" and "Champions" pages all prove her unequaled capability to take on numerous responsibilities and tasks.

Andrea Dixon worked on the "Speech" page while her many-time teammate, Michelle Dilkian, completed the "Yearbook" spread. As a pair, Andrea's and Michelle's work was illustrious. This commendable duo did a remarkable job on overseeing the formation of the closing section, as well as the "Tennis" page. Joined by Anne, the three did a very impressive job on the undergraduate pages. In a matter of a few weeks, the trio met an abundance of pursuits. They turned out 72 pages of quality work. Their absolute commitment to their pages is evident by the final product.

A very attractive advertisement section was headed by Jennifer Klopatek and Marlene Youngheim. A very tedious job, our ad managers kept an optimistic outlook. Without their dedication, the 1983 edition would not have the money for those "little extras" which make it one to remember. Jennifer and Marlene took on additional duties. Jennifer deserves credit for the "Pep band/Rally" page and Marlene the "Varsity Cheerleader/Fall Royalty" and the "Soph-Frosh Cheerleader" pages.

Senior Section Editor was Susan Mendieta. She received very valuable help from Michelle Ocken and Debbie Maxwell. Together they did an incredible job on this lengthy section. Susan managed to find the time to take her own candid and "Senior Bests" pictures, as well as develop her film and print her photos. When it came down to dependability, Susan was a great help to the editors.

Shauna Thurman was available for numerous tasks. She was a great help to the ad managers and she also worked on the "S Club/Key Club/Quill & Scroll" and "Drama" layouts.

Debbie Maxwell and Michelle Ocken worked enthusiastically both individually and as a pair. "Student Government" and portions of the faculty and closing sections were taken care of by Debbie. Michelle oversaw the "CSF" page as well as contributing to the faculty and closing sections. Her meritorious help was appreciated on the cheerleader pages, also.

took on the sports section. The layouts were numerous, yet they did an exemplary job. With an average of eight pages due each deadline, they completed a section which they can be proud of.

Brenda Lugo aided Rick and Dimitry by taking care of many of the girls' sports. Brenda's reliability was greatly appreciated not only by the sports editors, but by many other staff members.

Julie Boles' and Renee Dixon's primary responsibility was the designing of division pages. Their tremendous accomplishments on these pages is proof of their talent and imagination. However, Renee also did an excellent job on her "After Hours" page. In addition, Julie produced posters seen throughout the school to remind students to buy their yearbooks.

Suzie McGuigan was put in charge of indexing students' names. As Index Editor, Suzie took on an ample amount of hard work and hours of typing. She also did a commendable job on the "Marching Band" and "JV Wrestling/Pin Pals" spreads.

Joe Mann worked on the "FFA" and "Chess/Ski Club" layouts as well as contributing helpful ideas to the editors and other staff members.

Sarah Hackett put her creative ideas to use on her "Entertainment" layout. She also contributed imaginative views to other members.

Among other useful tasks, Lisa Ugar helped on the "Drama" page. Always ready with a catchy headline, Eric Vaughan was another helpful staff member. He did a multitude of jobs, among which was the "Art Club" and "Academic Decathlon/Choir" pages.

In the second semester, Laura Gundlach joined the Olympian Staff and did a fine job on the "New Faces" page in the closing section.

We feel that we were extremely fortunate to have a staff made up of such inventive minds and eager workers. We would like to take this time to tell our staff that though we never really said it before, we thank you for putting up with all of the not-so-good times during the year and we really appreciate each and every one of you for your ever-lasting talents and unselfish contributions which made our job just a little bit easier.

Coaches are champs too

by Monica Murrietta

By definition a coach is one who trains athletes or athletic teams. However, in reality, a Davis High coach is not only one who trains athletes, but is also one who devotes quality time and offers attentive compassion to his athletes.

When a team wins a game, tournament or a championship, the coach rarely gets the appropriate credit. Our coaches are responsible for the quality athletes which Davis High turns out. Athletes should realize that in the end, a coach's insistence for unusually lengthy practices and additional laps really pays off.

1. Although he is not a coach, Athletic Director Dan Gonsalves is a vital part of our sports program.
2. Coach Jerry Houser relaxes during a frosh workout.
3. Coach Larry Johnson during a sophomore practice.
4. Even though she is not "officially" a coach, Lori Bryhni deserves credit for her talent which she

- passes on to dance students.
 5. Coach Harry Gualco seems pleased with his team.
 6. Coach Dwayne Westphal was one of those responsible for the outstanding freshman football team.
- NOT PICTURED: Though not pictured, the following coaches deserve credit for their great efforts and abilities: Bruce Emerson, Darryl Torre, Nick Chipponeri, Bernice Finley, Denis France, Margaret Hodge, Bev Johnson, Don Lanphear, Dick Erler, Bev Gilmore, Richard Gunther, Brent Bohlander.
